

Parachute Jumps Thrill At State Fair

RALEIGH—The Army's world famous free-fall parachute team will demonstrate precision acrobatic maneuvers daily during the 101st N. C. State Fair October 14-19.

The Golden Knights will jump from 13,500 feet above the fairground's every day at 4:30 P. M.

During their 2½-mile jump, the nine-member demonstration team will perform four stunts. The first two will execute a baton pass. The next man will collapse his chute in mid-fall in a cutaway. Two more then will drop in a diamond track and the last four will criss-cross in formation.

Each jumper will wear a colored smoke bomb on one foot to enable fair-goers to follow the high altitude action.

The men fall at 120 miles an hour for about 70 seconds until they reach 1,800 feet. Their gold and black chutes then slow the rate of fall to five miles an hour and the landing is as if they had jumped from three feet off the ground.

If it should be cloudy, the Knights can jump from as low as 7,000 feet and still perform their stunts. If extreme cloudiness occurs, they will jump without free-fall from 2,500 feet.

Organized in 1959, at Ft. Bragg, the Knights have grown from 13 members to eight officers and 44 enlisted men. Current members have made more than 3,000 static line jumps and 25,000 free falls. All-time total for the group is more than 70,000 jumps.

The Knights hold 87 of the 128 men's precision parachuting records established by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

In the past seven years the group has produced two world champions, five U. S. national champs and one Helms Foundation sport parachute athlete of the year. The Knights won the first gold medal in parachuting for the United States and currently they hold more than 200 trophies. The first and only U. S. national champ to win that title three consecutive years was a Knight.

The team was formed to provide a nucleus of skilled sport parachutists. Its mission is to promote Army prestige and esprit de corps, to conduct research and development and to enter competitions and demonstrations.

HATTIESBURG, Miss.—Recent pledges to Greek organizations at the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, include Sanfra Ange of Edenton pledging Delta Delta Delta.

VISITS ENCAMPMENT

Mrs. Florine Nixon attended afternoon and evening ceremonies at the Boy Scout encampment at the Battlefield of Yorktown Saturday, where more than 4,000 scouts participated. She was in Seaford, Va., visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mitchell Sliva, and attended the ceremonies in which her grandson, Joey Sliva, participated.

The unselfish, public-minded citizens in every community are eventually discovered, even though the horn-tooters get most of the headlines.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LIVING IN HOPE

International Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 29

Memory Selection: "Behold, I create new heavens and a new earth; and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind."—Isaiah 65:17.

Lesson Text: Isaiah 61; Luke 2:22-32.

Our lesson today centers around one of the greatest gifts God has given mankind—HOPE.

We would be in sad straits, indeed, if we did not have a ray of hope to cling to in times of misfortune. Present circumstances would be unbearable, if we could not hope that things would be better in the future. And perhaps the Jewish nation, before, during and after the Exodus, is the most graphic illustration of the part hope plays in the life of mankind; certainly, she had to cling to hope tenaciously, or she would not have survived.

Her hope was of greater scope than purely personal, individual hopes; it was sanctified, because it concerned the prophecies of Christ's advent on earth to save suffering humanity. And Isaiah, prophet of the Exile, assiduously kept this hope alive in the hearts of the people, with his picture of the future and what that future held.

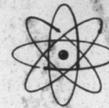

Indeed, the well-known "Servant passages" have their beginning in the Book of Isaiah; they presented the concept of the nation of Israel as the Servant of God—a servant who suffered, but in the end was triumphant. A lofty calling for a small nation. Little wonder that Israel fell short of this ideal time and time again. But God was not finished; He never is, in His universal plans for mankind. One who was to be the personification of the Suffering Servant was to come on earth—Jesus of Nazareth, who dedicated His life and His ministry to the hope that was portrayed by Isaiah in his picture of the future.

Once again we are struck by the fact that God respects the will of man, giving him, time and time again, a chance to redeem himself from his sins. He never arbitrarily orders man's way of life, for if He did, man's God-given right of choice would be destroyed. Thus, the limitations of God has placed upon himself open the way of sin and disobedience on the part of His children. But—although our eyes cannot always see it, nor our brains comprehend His ways, God—given time—attains His purpose. If we are in any doubt of this, at this point, we have only to realize how true this has been in the realization of the hopes of ancient Israel in the coming of Christ—their long-promised Messiah. Jesus, born in lowly circumstances many centuries ago, lived among the people, was crucified, and resurrected—Jesus, today is the God-given gift of HOPE to mankind.

Faith in a risen and living Christ is, indeed, the foundation of hope for mankind. And the best expression of that hope, and that faith is

Atoms and Apple Cores

Mark will be fourteen years old this month. He is very thoughtful these days. Many an hour is spent on the back lawn with watercolors and pad, mostly thinking or dreaming.

Boundless curiosity is his, and "why," a certain response to every answer he receives. Besides painting, he likes to hunt, swim, golf, read, and putter in the basement with test tubes. Only recently, girls have been included with rifles and missile shots as a favored topic of conversation.

He talks about God, too. In his pursuit of answers to the universe, he investigates family discussions that range from ethics to eternity, from atoms to apple cores.

It's small wonder that I thank God daily for His Church and its teachings. Its truths help me answer with assurance the questions Mark asks in his search for understanding.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Williford FUNERAL HOME

EDENTON, N. C.

Dear friends,

The members of our medical profession, be they doctors, dentists, nurses, bring a great deal of dedication as well as knowledge to their work.

A conscientious concern for the patient is as necessary to healing as are the medical skills. When the need arises, they serve long and late and they merit the high esteem that our community feels for the medical profession.

Respectfully,

Marion Williford
