

Report From Washington

By Rep. Walter B. Jones

According to the rules of the House, any member may raise the question of whether or not a quorum is present on the House floor, at any given time. The presiding officer then estimates or counts and if 217 members are not present, he then announces that a quorum is not present and orders the clerk to call the roll. This is known as a "quorum call." If, upon calling the roll twice, less than one-half of the membership fails to respond, the quorum is not present.

On Monday, September 23, the above procedure took place and only 177 members were present; therefore, under the rules of the House, it had to adjourn until such time as a quorum was present. I am delighted that I was present inasmuch as this was the first time this has occurred since I entered the Congress.

Most of the legislation last week consisted of accepting or rejecting conference reports, which were bills that have been passed by both bodies, but in different versions. Of general interest to our district was the conference report on the extension of the 1965 Farm Act. The House had included a limitation of $20,000 payments to any one farmer. The conference version deleted this ceiling. After a long and bitter debate, we were able to adopt the conference report which basically extends the 1965 act an additional year or through 1970. This was passed by only a slim margin of 17 votes. On final passage, all North Carolina Congressmen present voted for the extension.

The House also took final action on the conference report regarding the Food Stamp Bill. Earlier the House had included a restriction on issuing food stamps to strikers or college students unless they were otherwise eligible for food stamps prior to becoming a college student or a striker. Many of us felt that the food stamp program was not designed for such uses, but was instigated to relieve those of our citizens who are at an economic disadvantage. In any event, the bill as agreed to does permit strikers and college students to use food stamps.

In other action, the House passed the bill creating the office of the federal magistrate. These officers will have limited jurisdiction similar to the JP courts of our state. The bill provided for a maximum salary of $22,500 for these positions.

The fact that a presidential election and the subsequent inauguration is rapidly approaching was borne out this week by the beginning of the construction of the inauguration stands and general seating in front of the Capitol. These stands will cover approximately a city block and are placed in the space in front of the Capitol facing the Library of Congress.

It is now projected that this Congress will adjourn around October 10.

PAUL C. WILLIAMS

Paul Williams Finishes Basic

CAPE MAY, N. J.—Seaman Apprentice Paul C. Williams, USCG, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Williams, Route 2, Deerfield, Edenton, N. C., was graduated from basic training at the Coast Guard Recruit Training Center, Cape May, N. J. During his eight-week training period, he was a member of the Center's Ceremonial Band. He performed with the unit at graduation review every Friday.

The 35-member band has performed in parades, on holidays and special occasions in Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and New York City, as well as surrounding communities.

As a graduate he may apply, if eligible, for advanced training in one of the many occupational fields required by the Coast Guard, or he may be assigned to a Coast Guard unit operating in the United States or overseas. Seaman Apprentice Williams is a graduate of John A. Holmes High School in Edenton.

Taller

Finding she tired quickly, a woman decided to weigh herself. As she stepped off the scales, her husband eyed her appraisingly and asked: "Well, what's the verdict, a little over-weight?" "Oh, no," said his wife, "but according to that height table on the scales I should be about six inches taller."

Vietnam Village Display Stated

RALEIGH—A "Vietnam Village" will be on display at the 101st N. C. State Fair, October 14-19.

The exhibit will include a chief's hut, school, four typical peasants' homes, water buffalo and swine pens, a Viet Cong booby trap display and underground shelters used by peasants to hide from enemy soldiers.

The village will be constructed by the inspector and instructor staff of the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center on Western Boulevard. Most of these Marines are Vietnam veterans.

The Tar Heel fair will be the second in the nation to have such an exhibit. The other one was shown at the Iowa State Fair this year.

The village will be located on the northwest end of the grounds near the lower lake. Straw woven into mats and bamboo framing, materials similar to those found in Vietnam, will be used in the exhibit.

Fair Director Arthur Pitzer said the exhibit is being added to the fair because of the obvious interest of many North Carolinians in Vietnam.
