Even when the storm clouds gather
And the wind blows sharp and wild,
You can always find the sunshine
In someone's happy smile.

So, in spite of wind and weather,
Or rain falling all the while,
Remember someone's watching
For the sunshine of your smile.

I heard a weather prognosticator say last week that the year 1969 would bring the worst weather that we have had in 30 years. He has a good start on being right so far.

Even though last week I was ailing, this week I feel a hundred per cent and, believe me, that's a glorious feeling. When I think of what a mess I was in a year ago, it almost seems miraculous that one's physical being could rebound to the extent of feeling like a new person. I call it a "faith strengthener."

I believe the whole town of Edenton joins with me in sending congratulations to the new Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Satterfield.

The Methodist Church will have Sunday evening services, starting this Sunday night and continuing each Sunday night until Easter. Can you think of a better way to spend an hour on Sunday evening?

I certainly learned a new trick this week when I visited Ross Jewelers and found them eating hot doughnuts and drinking coffee. They have hot doughnuts each morning simply by heating them under a light bulb, preferably a goose-neck lamp, which can be directed right on the doughnut. Ingenuity at work!

Even though I'm an avid TV fan, I get more and more disgusted with the many so-called popular programs. I'm beginning to feel like an old "fuddy duddy," but honestly it seems to me that there's no originality or purpose to most programs. They all seem to be trying out the public, trying to see just how far they can go on dirty innuendoes, poorly told rotten jokes and the so-called Sex Symbol. I try to keep modern in my thinking and as much as I detest the Wild West and shoot 'em up pictures, I believe I'd rather watch them than the latest "laugh-ins." Because I like Lawrence Welk, I'm told I belong to the Geritol Set—so what? (I do).

We hear that Phyllis and Macky Dixon were hurt in an automobile accident on their way to Florida. Here's hoping it was not too severe and that they can soon come home.

One of the most pleasant surprises Saturday morning was a brief visit by Mrs. Edna Barnhill, now living in Winston-Salem. Her contagious jovial disposition made the weekend far more pleasant and has extended into this week. With only a limited time here, she and Dick were unable to visit as many Edenton friends as they would have liked.

Here is a recipe for ginger bread, given to me by Mrs. T. B. Williford. From what I understand from those who have had this treat, it is delicious:

- 1 cup sugar.
- 1 cup molasses.
- 1 cup salad oil.
- 1 tsp. each cinnamon, ginger and cloves.

Blend these ingredients in large mixing bowl. Add 2 teaspoons soda dissolved in 1/4 cup hot water. Add 2 cups plain flour. Mix well, then add 1 cup boiling water all at one time. Mix and pour quickly into a greased and floured pan (9 x 13 in.) Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve hot with following lemon sauce:

- 1 lemon.
- 1/2 cup sugar.
- Dash salt.
- 1/2 cup water.
- 1 egg yolk.
- 1 tbsp. corn starch.
- 1 tbsp. butter.

Grate rind from half a lemon, squeeze juice, then cut other half in thin slices. Combine sugar, salt and 1/2 cup water with lemon slices and bring to a boil. Add egg yolks, grated rind, cornstarch and 1/4 cup water. Pour over gingerbread while still hot.
