News From ASCS Office

By H. O. WEST
Signup In '69 Feed Grain, Wheat and Cotton Programs Underway

As of Friday, February 14, a total of 114 farms have enrolled in the 1969 feed grain program, nine in the wheat program and 135 in the upland cotton program. Farmers signing up to participate in these programs are receiving advance payments on one-half of the diversion payments on feed grain and the one-half of small cotton farm payments, if requested. All farmers interested in signing up to participate in these programs should visit the county ASCS office to discuss any questions they might have. The signup period for participating in these programs will run through Friday, March 21. Farmers are urged to sign their intentions now.

Measurement Service
 We are accepting requests for measurement service for allotted crops and other land uses. The charge for this service is 80 cents per acre, plus $3 with a minimum of $7.50 per farm. Requests for premeasurement should be filed in the ASCS office at your earliest convenience.

ACP
 Farmers planning to carry out a conservation practice on their farm this spring are urged to make an application for federal cost-share assistance. Requests for assistance must be filed and approval obtained before the practice is started.

1968 County Peanut Yield
 Chowan County's 1968 average peanut yield is 2,609 pounds per acre.

For Sale
 Chowan County ASCS office has two addressograph machines, one class 1900 and one class 200 for sale. Sealed bids will be accepted until Monday, February 24. Interested persons may inspect these machines any day, Monday through Friday, from 8 A. M. until 5 P. M.

Holiday
 The Chowan County ASCS office will be closed Friday, February 21, in observance of Washington's birthday.

Reminders
 April 1—final date to lease and transfer peanuts and tobacco.

From The Herald Yellowed Pages

30 YEARS AGO
 Residents of North Edenton were up in arms and dozens of them, by telephone and otherwise, complained vigorously to members of Town Council about conditions prevailing about their premises as the result of ashes from the stack of the Albemarle Peanut Company being scattered about the neighborhood.

Zoning Hearing Is Set March 20

On March 20, at 8 P. M., the Town Council will meet at the Municipal Building to consider a revision of the existing zoning ordinance.

The new ordinance will allow town officials to more effectively deal with development problems brought about by the growth of Edenton. New provisions in the ordinance will assure a safer and healthier community through density standards which assure adequate light and air and discourage further slum development. These features will make the Town of Edenton and the surrounding areas a more attractive place to live by preserving open space and protecting Edenton's heritage and historic buildings.

The peace and quiet of future residential neighborhoods will be protected from the adverse influence of commerce and industry, while businesses and industries will be protected from the harassment and legal action of residential neighbors.

The new zoning ordinance and map will be available at the Municipal Building for inspection. Please take the time to read the ordinance and attend the public hearing held for the citizens of Edenton.

The Cave Man

"I don't like Bob. Last night I wanted to show him how well I could whistle, and when I puckered my lips real nice..."
 "Well, what then?"
 "He let me whistle."

Corn Meal Bonanza Scheduled

If toe tappers are fond of folk singers, who then might lip smackers favor? Why "folk cooks" of course—people who just fiddle around with food for fun and family enjoyment.

Not surprisingly, that's just the sort of folks who will want to enter the third annual Corn Meal Bonanza amateur cooking contest put on by the N. C. Corn Millers Association and the North Carolina Department of Agriculture.

These amateur cooks will have a chance, moreover, at winning something valuable as well as "just having fun."

Finalists in the contest will compete for prizes which include portable television sets, Polaroid cameras and transistor radios. By originating a savory recipe, which has an ingredient—corn meal—processed here in North Carolina, any adult or young person over nine can strive to become one of 12 state finalists.

To enter, an individual must submit his or her recipe no later than March 31. Recipes will be judged on the basis of originality and ease of preparation. Corn meal "mixes" should not be used and preparation time should not exceed 1 1/2 hours.
