

Brownies Visit In Williamston

Nineteen Brownie Scouts Tuesday got off one requirement of current Long Games with a visit to Williamston.

The Brownies are members of Troop 718 in Edenton. The troop leaders are Mrs. Shirley Kirby and Mrs. Elva Erwin.

Making the trip were: Margaret Bennett, Patricia Bond, Wanda Bunch, Regina Crumme, Patricia Easterling, Carolyn Ervin, Anne Erwin, Annette Evans and Pamela Flowers.

Also, Deborah Griffin, Suzanne Griffin, Debbie Jordan, Rhonda Kirby, Cathy Lassiter, Jill Stutz-man, Susan Small, Janet Twiddy, Karen Williams and Kimberly Long.

All Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors in the Girl Scout Council of Greater Tidewater are playing Long Games this year. The Brownies have 12 projects to complete before May 1. If all the projects are completed, they will win a Piper Patch.

One of the games is to visit a Brownie Troop in another neighborhood. The local troop chose Williamston and made this leg of their Long Games Tuesday.

Tanner Retires At Charles City

Fielding F. Tanner retired recently as manager of the Harrison Lake National Fish Hatchery near Charles City, Va. He previously managed the Edenton hatchery.

Tanner, who is the son-in-law of Mrs. H. T. Layton of Edenton, at 63 has spent a lifetime raising fish. Now he figures it's about time he sat back and caught a few.

Holding managerial positions since 1938, Tanner has spent 40 years altogether with the Division of Fish Hatcheries of the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Attending a reception of Tanner from Edenton were Mrs. Layton and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit L. Layton and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Layton of Winston-Salem.

Hot Chambers

The thrust chambers used in the first stage of Project Apollo's Saturn rocket must withstand heat of 5,000 degrees F—half the temperature on the sun's surface. The fuel is used as a coolant by circulating it through tubular thrust chamber walls made of a high temperature nickel-chromium alloy. This cooling system lowers the thrust chamber walls to a mere 1,000 degrees F.

Beginner Cooks Need Wardrobe Of Pots 'n' Pans

NEW YORK (a)—Are you a bride who has just begun the role of homemaker but can barely boil water?

The first thing you should know is that you need the proper pot to boil it in.

Few women have every kind of utensil there is but the novice homemaker seems most afflicted by the wrong pot at the wrong time syndrome. As a beginner cook she lacks the experience in choosing the utensil necessary for each type of cooking.

Actually you should buy cookware like you buy clothes. You begin with a basic set, a "wardrobe" of cookware that takes care of most of your needs.

Performance Differs

An important thing to know about cookware is that not all of it performs the same way. A cooking utensil must conduct heat from the source to the food. Different materials conduct the heat in different ways.

Of materials commonly used for cookware, the best heat conductor is aluminum. It heats up evenly all over so that the food is cooked from the sides and top as well as the bottom. There are no hot spots to cause scorching or cold spots to under-cook.

When cooking for two, you should have two skillets—an eight-inch for omelets, hamburgers and bacon and eggs, and a 10-inch for frying chickens or skillet dinners.

You should have saucepans in one and a half and two quart sizes. The one and a half quart will take one package of frozen vegetables.

Dutch Oven Basic Utensil

A three or four quart Dutch oven is another basic utensil. It is larger and heavier than a saucepan and has two handles for easier carrying. It is generally used for quantity cooking, like stews, soups and spaghetti.

A two quart covered casserole is fine for one-dish meals. A small roasting pan, 12x9 inches, will handle most roasts except a large turkey.

A six-cup coffee maker, a two or three quart tea kettle, a square cake pan and a pie pan—both nine inches—finish off a basic cookware set.

Look for cookware with simple, uncluttered lines and level bottoms that sit firmly on the range. Aluminum utensils now have handsome decorator finishes and vivid colors for glamorous eye appeal and non-stick interiors to make cleaning a cinch.

Never!

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who's never turned his head and said "Not bad."

DON'T PUT IT OFF

By MARY LIZZIE LANE

When the days seem dull and blue
And you think nobody cares for you,
Just remember in God's word
How much more he values you than a bird.

God's eye is on every sparrow
That falls from the sky;
You can imagine how much closer
He watches you and I.

God is not only on His throne,
He is right here in our homes;
Jesus knows our every thought and care,
That's why I always feel he is so near.

Don't put off until it's too late
Trying to keep everything up to date;
Make preparations concerning your soul,
So we'll all be there when the roll is called.

Go to church and learn all you can,
God intended this for every man;
Don't stay away when healthy and young,
Give Him your best; He gives in return.

When our years get us down
And we won't be able to get around,
Then we'll be sorry we didn't do
What we knew God intended for us to.

When we have to take our chair,
If we are lucky enough to get there,
You'll regret that you neglected His care;
Go to church and meet your Saviour there.

You know sometimes people go to bed,
They don't get up because they're dead;
They don't get chance to call on the Lord;
You'd better call on Him now while at your door.

If fever and pain is what we gain,
We'll have to tough it out the best we can;
Jesus suffered and died
With a sword wound in His side.

So let's try to live and in Him abide,
When sickness comes He'll be at our side,
Do what you can while you're healthy and strong,
For your tomorrows may not last very long.

Q. My husband died in 1966. I am 57 years old and completely disabled. I have never worked under social security and do not have any children under age 18. Is there any way I can receive social security benefits?

A. A recent change in the social security law makes it possible for disabled widows between 50 and 60 years of age to receive monthly benefits. You should contact your social security office and file a claim for benefits as soon as possible.

Q. When my wife died in 1965, I received the lump sum death payment but was told that no monthly benefits could be paid our young daughter since my wife was not furnishing one-half of her support and had not worked six out of the 13 quarters ending with her death. Has this been changed?

A. Yes. The law concerning payments of children's benefits on the mother's record has been changed. You should contact your nearest social security office and file a claim.

Q. I purchased a farm in 1968 and since this is the first time I have ever farmed I would like to know how to report my income.

A. As a farmer, you should report your farm income and expenses on a Schedule F and include this with your federal income tax return. Get

George Washington's Lost Colony!?! YEP...

Back in the spring of 1766, George and his nephew bought a 1,000-acre tract in

PERQUIMANS and CHOWAN counties
But in 1779
GATES COUNTY
was carved out of them.

With the vague old survey lines, no one is now sure WHICH county has the tract.

(Shame on you, George — and you were a surveyor, too...)
