Williams Shows Edenton Scenes

Professional Photographer Jack Williams of Elizabeth City has been awarded a trophy for the "best in the state in candid direct color photography" at the annual convention of the Professional Photographers of North Carolina.

Williams' study was made during the recent wedding of Nancy Flood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Flood of Elizabeth City, showing the candlelit interior of the First Christian Church.

Hazen Keyser, vice president and print exhibit chairman, said Williams' Court of Honor print was one of five direct color studies he had accepted for the salon. His other highly-rated candid was made at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Edenton during the wedding of Susan Holmes, daughter of Mrs. Peggy Holmes of Court House Square.

Williams also exhibited a group study called "Fascination" featuring his one-year-old daughter Monica and her red-head cousin Joey.

In color pictorials he placed a sunset study of the Edenton waterfront showing the Penelope Barker House and a magnificent fall scene of a cypress tree reflected in Newbegun Creek, entitled "Cypress Bend."

In competition were 300 professional prints judged by master photographers who lectured during the convention.

We had a wonderful time on our vacation, just taking our time, stopping when we pleased, taking turns driving and visiting new places and kinfolk. We arrived at Savannah just at the right time when all the azaleas were in bloom and along with all the hanging moss and beautiful homes. It was a lovely scene. This year we took a boat trip around St. Augustine and also rode again in a surrey around the historic spots of the city, which we enjoy so much. We fished at Jacksonville Beach and caught trout, mullet, catfish and sand sharks. On then to Daytona Beach, then inland through the orange growing sections and then on to the best spot on earth—EDENTON.

Forgot to mention that we went through Fayetteville and visited with our former pastor, Cliff Shoaf. He has a very modern church with an active membership. We missed Church in Edenton during his family as they were out of town. Mr. Shoaf sends his best regards to all his friends in Edenton.

It was nice to see the Barnhills of Winston-Salem in town this weekend. We have missed them so very much.

Here is a recipe for "Miss Annie's Chicken Salad," sent to me from Mrs. W. B. Chesson of Roper. I do appreciate thoughtfulness in sharing her recipes.

Cube or cut one thoroughly cooked chicken.
1 stalk celery.
1 pint sweet cucumber pickles.
1 pint chopped pecans.
1 tsp. celery salt.
1 tsp. table salt.
1/2 tsp. pepper.
1 tsp. vinegar.
Mix with 1 1/2 pints mayonnaise.
Serves 15.
