A spectacular plant to sunny location. The variety with which you are probably familiar is that called Joseph's Coat. Its leaves are variegated yellow, green and red. Love-Lies-Bleeding is another amaranth which many gardeners know. The coloring is red and white and the drooping crimson and white plummy flowers are stunning in arrangements. Molten Fire is probably the most brilliantly colored of the clan. As you might expect from the variety name, the leaves are flaming red, a color far removed from common green. tian world for more than a thousand years, and it is also noteworthy that it was the first printed Bible (1455).

In 1384 Wycliffe undertook to translate the Bible into Anglo-Saxon—the parent tongue of English as we know it today. Early in the sixteenth century another inspired and dedicated man furthered spreading God's message to the people. William Tyndale's dream was that a boy who walked behind a plough would know Scripture as intimately as did the English clergy. To that end, unable to obtain sufficient support for this undertaking in England, he repaired to Europe and completed his translation of the New Testament. Printed and published abroad, it was smuggled into England in bales of cotton and cases of merchandise. Tyndale finally paid with his life for his determination to give his people the Word in their own language.

Bishop Coverdale took up the work of his friend Tyndale, and in 1535 the first complete Bible in English was printed. Henry the Eighth of England sanctioned the placing of the Bible in English churches, and James I commissioned the King James version, so widely used today. The Bible—truly a fascinating history.

Family Life Is Changing

We may not be too aware of them, but important changes are taking place in American families right before our eyes. Perhaps you have noticed the increased mobility of Americans. We are moving our homes more and more. Scientists estimate that one family in five now move annually. The demands of our industrial society keep us on the go.

We are marrying at a younger age. The average American woman now finds her husband at age 20. At the beginning of this century she married at 22.

The American male has been caught up in this trend, too. He now marries almost four years sooner than his grandparents. Today, at age 22 he undertakes the family responsibilities his male forbearers began at 26.

We're marrying earlier than our ancestors and our households are smaller. Back in the first days of our republic families had an average of seven children. Today we have less than three per family.

This decreasing number of children may be partially accounted for by changes in our economic life. Just before the start of the 20th century, half of our families lived on farms where children were an asset. Today less than one-fourth of American families farm. Though we love them, children are a financial liability in the city.

Yes, family life is changing in many ways. Yet one of the primary functions of the family remains as important as ever—in fact it's more important than ever. This is the provision of affection and love to all its members. As other functions, such as education, recreation, and production either are modified or go out of the family, and interchange of warmth, acceptance, respect and love becomes all the more needed and important. And these are some of the very ingredients of good mental health.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers).

Q. How do I work out the surcharge?

A. Follow the instructions for making this calculation that are given on Forms 1040 and 1040A. On both forms you will note there is a line on which to enter your income tax, a line to enter the amount of your surcharge and a line for the sum of your income tax and surcharge.

To avoid delays, it is important to enter all the information on each line as called for on your tax return.

Q. I've never filed an estimated declaration and only owe $28 on my 1968 tax. Do I have to file the estimated form you sent me in 1968?

A. If you estimate that your 1969 tax liability will exceed your tax withheld by $40 or more, then you are required to file a declaration of estimated tax.

The purpose of filing a declaration of estimated income tax and making quarterly payments is to provide a means for all taxpayers to pay their tax on a current basis.

Q. How can I file a return using the pre-addressed label if I've made a mistake on the form the label came on?

A. Lift the label off the form and place it on the one you are filing. The label has been made so that it lifts off easily but sticks tightly when placed on another form.

Q. My 10-year-old son received $45 worth of dividends last year on some stock his grandfather gave him. Does he have to report this or do we?

A. This income is your son's and should not be reported on your return. A return would have to be filed by your son if his total income for the year was $600 or more. In figuring gross income, the first $100 of dividends is not counted.

Q. My wife's missing signature is holding up our refund. Why is this so important?

A. Tax returns are legal documents and have to be signed to be complete.

On joint returns, the signature of both taxpayers are required and both are legally responsible for the accuracy of the return and the tax that may be due.
