

Around Chowan County Farms

By C. W. OVERMAN
Land Forming Demonstration will be held at the Bennie P. Monds farm at Center Hill, Thursday of this week, May 15. The time will be 10:00 A. M., and again at 2:00 P. M. The field is adjacent to the highway beside Mr. Monds' dwelling.

First Lamb Pool will be held at the Eastern N. C. Livestock Arena, Tarboro, N. C., on Tuesday, May 27. Lambs should arrive between 7:00 and 10:00 A. M. Lambs should weigh 85 to 100 pounds each for best price.

Notify your County Extension office as immediately your name and the number of lambs if you expect to participate in this sale. A second lamb sale is scheduled at the same place on June 24.

Soybean Production Reminders: High yields of good quality soybeans puts dollars in your pockets. This year Chowan County's goal is an average yield of at least 35 bushels per acre. Here is how to do it: PLANT clean, sound soybeans of the quality the market requires.

ROTATE soybeans to control diseases, insects and weeds, and maintain high fertility of the soil.

USE your soil test report as a guide for applying dolomitic lime and fertilizer. FERTILIZE — Soybeans remove nutrients from the soil. They must be replaced in the soil if it is to continue supporting yields of any crop.

Apply at least 400 to 500 pounds of 0-10-20 or 300 to 400 pounds of 0-9-27 per acre. A 50 bushel per acre yield of soybeans will use approximately 185 pounds of nitrogen, 40 pounds of P2O5 (phosphorous) and 55 pounds of K2O (potassium).

INOCULATE and use MOLYBDENUM on the seed at planting so your soybeans will take all of their nitrogen from the air.

PLANT 9 to 10 seed per foot of row if the seed germination is 90 per cent or better, 12 seed per foot of row if the germination is 80 to 90 per cent. Stands too thick do not yield as well and tend to lodge more.

CONTROL WEEDS . . . Weeds are costly. Several herbicides are available that will do a good job when properly used.

Treflan, Vernam, or Planavin are applied incorporated before planting. They also may be applied immediately after planting incorporated with a power-driven rotary or Kicker which straddles the planter track not disturbing the seed. Many peanut growers are using this latter method in applying Vernam and/or Balan for peanuts with good success. It also works well with Treflan for cotton, the Treflan does not hinder early root growth this way.

For pre-emergence, within 3 days after planting, Amiben, Loro, Enid-Dinitro, or Dynap may be used.

For post-emergence, before weeds are over two inches tall apply Tenoran with Adjuvan surfactant. Read the label and follow instructions.

Ryland 4-H's See Safety Film

The Ryland Junior 4-H Club met at the community building on Friday night, May 9.

Steve Jordan gave the devotion and led the group in prayer. Neal Jordan led in the pledge to the American Flag. Steve Jordan led in the 4-H pledge. The song leader, Bob Jordan, led in a song called "Little Cabin in the Woods".

Mrs. Gladys White showed a film on bicycle safety. This showed some rules to obey when riding a bicycle.

After the meeting adjourned, Steve Jordan led in some games.

CONTINUING DISPLAY—Chandler's Studio's collection of "Before and After" pictures continues to draw interest in the lobby of the UVB/Seaboard National Bank in Suffolk, Va. These are old pictures that have been restored for area clients — some are tintypes and daguerreotypes dating back to the late Eighteen Hundreds. Shown in the above photograph are Mary Whitehurst and Flo Deament and Betty Martin, also Bobby Trump, assistant cashier of Seaboard. These pictures have been viewed by hundreds of people and will be shown until May 19. The public is invited to come in during banking hours.

Exciting New Lawn Grasses

The year 1969 will no doubt be remembered as ushering in an "era of fine lawngresses."

True, Merion bluegrass and noteworthy fescues such as Pennlawn have been stars in the turf for some years. But only now is a wealth of varieties becoming generally available.

As never before, the seedsmen can blend unique combinations for almost all climates, soils and human preferences.

New bluegrasses are almost too numerous to name. With greater resistance to disease than even Merion are such triumphs as Fylking and Pennstar.

Sodco is a new composite excellent for sod. Already introduced are Cougar, Newport, Prato and Windsor.

Tenacious old favorites include Aboretum, Kenblue and Park. Incidentally, lawn bluegrasses seem to be grouping into two camps.

The old favorites and most European introductions exist frugally—actually resent too much feeding and forcing in hot weather.

An elite group, of which Merion is a senior member, relishes intensified attention rather continuously.

Fine fescue varieties have long been noted for their tolerance of shade, drought, poor soil and low fertility. Newer varieties include Cascade Chewings, Highland, Jamestown, Oasis and Ruby; these join stalwarts as Chewings, Illahee, Pennlawn and Rainier.

There are newer Colonial bentgrasses, too, for most habitats and lawns that are close-mowed. Highland, the workhorse, is joined by Exeter, Holflor and renewed supplies of Astoria. Penncross is an outstanding creeping bentgrass for athletic turfs such as golf and bowling greens.

Some ryegrasses have been elevated to fine turf status, too. These are fine-leaved perennials, quick to form a sod. They don't mow so neatly as bluegrass, but otherwise much resemble it.

Varieties include Manhattan, newly bred at Rutgers University; NK-100 and Pelo, developed in Europe, and Norlea, originating in Canada.
