So many of us dream of tomorrow,
Missing the joys of today.
I'll admit that tomorrows are exciting,
But, oh, how I love today.

Even through the darkest night, when day breaks, there's hope again. A friend of mine, a very wonderful lady, a joy to be around, tells me that she lives just for today and enjoys each day as it comes. She is old in years but very young at heart—truly an inspiration.

Well, here we are, two fairly healthy people again—it's a great feeling. I do believe that we're beginning to realize that we just can't "galivant" as much as we'd like to do, but at least we can still go fishing—one of the biggest "fringe benefits" of living in wonderful Edenton!

Many of us in Edenton were shocked at the death of Bob Spence of Elizabeth City. Bob, who was a Mason and also a member of the Eastern Star, was loved by all. As one friend said, Bob lived more GOOD years in 54 years than many older people live. It won't be long before school will be over for the summer and I'll surely miss all the children passing by. Then on warm days, when the windows are open, I can hear the piano music and the children singing, which somehow gives me a "lift."

I received two most welcome letters this past week from old friends, one from Edna Barnhill of Winston-Salem and one from Mrs. Melvin Parham of Asheville. Golly, it's nice to get these letters, as those two gals are some of my favorite people. Each one of them sent their best wishes to all of their friends here, of whom there are many. Oh, I almost forgot, Glen and Jean Mabe also sent us a note. They, all three, agree on one special thing — they would love to return to Edenton.

I saw Emma Bunch (Mrs. Haywood) in the Nu Curl Beauty Salon this past week and she looked prettier than ever. Gee, it was nice to see her looking so well and pretty at the same time.

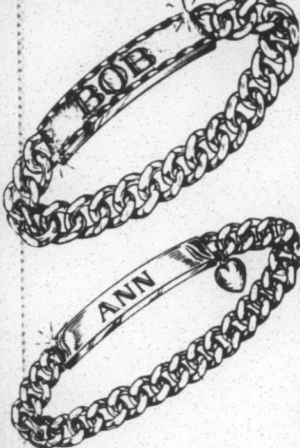

I do appreciate all the recipes sent to me. Here's one which came from a member of the Methodist Church in Winston-Salem, by way of Edna Barnhill. It is a jello-dessert salad and sounds delicious:

- 1 small can frozen orange juice.
- 1 medium can fruit cocktail.
- 1 small package of cream cheese.
- 1 package orange jello.
- Heat concentrated orange juice and juice from fruit cocktail (add enough water to make 2 cups liquid).
- Combine enough juice to cream cheese to blend well.
- Dissolve jello with heated juice and combine cocktail and fold in the creamed cheese. Set in freezing compartment until well set.
- Also here's one sent to me by Mrs. Parham, who says this recipe for a fruit salad will keep well for a week in the refrigerator:
 - 1 can of mandarin oranges, drained.
 - 1 can fruit cocktail, drained.
 - 1 can crushed pineapple, drained.
 - 1 cup Angel Flake coconut.
 - ½ cup chopped pecans.
 - 1 carton sour cream.
 - Mix all together and store in refrigerator. Use the combined fruit juices for punch.

In a class by themselves.
