Termites Eat Costly Meal

Houses, furniture, clothes, books—these and other items containing cellulose make a tasty menu for termites, busy right now eating them up at the rate of more than $250 million a year.

How does the homeowner find pest treatment to keep these busy creatures from invading homes? Here are suggestions from Orkin Exterminating Company.

1. Select a pest control firm with long-established residence and a reputation for reliability. Proper termite inspection takes time and know-how.
2. Call for a free inspection. A trained exterminator will inspect the home and draw up a plan of action based on what he has found.
3. Watch charges. Get competitive bids, for a good idea of what the required work should cost.

PRUNING TREES
Early winter to early spring is the right time to prune fruit trees.
