A LIFT FOR TODAY

God has seen the labor of my hands.— Gen. 31:42.
Christ, the Master Carpenter, taught the dignity and rewards of work. Today He desires His children to be useful in rebuilding a war torn world.
For the privilege of being laborers in Thy vineyard, we are grateful to Thee, O God.

ADOPTION

My husband and I are interested in adopting a Vietnamese infant who has been orphaned by the war. We are not concerned with "sponsoring" the child by sending funds for its care; but, rather, would like to bring the infant to this country for formal adoption.

We would be appreciative of any information you might have. If this activity does not concern your agency, please refer us to someone who can be of assistance. Mrs. D. P. J., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. D. P. J.:

At the present time it is difficult for an American family to adopt a Vietnamese orphan because the necessary administrative machinery is not in place in Vietnam. Another difficulty is finding a responsible agent in Saigon to complete the detailed Vietnamese procedures. The South Vietnamese government does not provide such a service as the general view in the Vietnamese Ministry of Social Welfare is that Vietnamese orphans should be cared for in Vietnam and not be placed for adoption. However, you will find enclosed a list of American voluntary agencies which may be able to advise you on finding a responsible agent in Vietnam.

Another problem involves the present adoption law in Vietnam. Usually a foreign family requires a waiver signed by the Prime Minister to adopt a Vietnamese child and such adoption is necessary to obtain a Vietnamese travel document for the child. At present this is a time-consuming process. Therefore, an American couple starting out to adopt a Vietnamese child must be prepared to face many frustrations and have considerable patience before the orphan arrives in the United States.

The Department of State does not become involved in the adoption of an alien child until after the adoption has been effected, and then only through the issuance of a visa for the child to enter the United States. Visa applications, in most cases, are handled directly between the voluntary agencies' representatives in the foreign country and the local United States Consul.

Public Parade

isn't Ringling Brothers, it's the Democratic Party "circus" with Chairman Jimmy V. Johnson as ringmaster, Gov. Bob Scott on the right and Executive Director Chuck Barbour on the left.

The usual meanings of left, right and center, in terms of politics, doesn't apply in the circus story. Johnson and Barbour have never been known to be anywhere but to the left of center and Gov. Scott is fighting hard to remain on dead center).

It was Chairman Johnson, a master of strategy, who pasted the "sick" label on the Democratic Party in North Carolina. He immediately found himself with a considerable amount of company. The healthy ones lined up behind Secretary of State Thad Eure in such numbers and influence that the chairman had to water down his original statement.

Gov. Scott, Johnson and Barbour huddled and named a 60-member committee to suggest medicine for the sick party. They vowed they would have every element and every section equally represented.

State Sen. Hargrove Bowles of the great State of Guilford, who himself likes to meander to the left of center, said it wasn't so. (He wants to talk of being governor and knows enough of Tar Heel politics to know the East is important). He said only 12 of the 60 reside east of Raleigh.

That being the case, we in the Northeast fared pretty well. We got two of them.

Rep. Phil Godwin of neighboring Gates deserved a seat because he is speaker in the House of Representatives.

Sen. George Wood of Little Camden was also named. Why? He worked so untiring at getting the name of State College changed and the university handle has become so popular, maybe he is expected to do the same for the party.

What all this amounts to is the party leadership has fallen into a well planned trap. The Republicans hope to get the Democrats to argue among themselves to the extent that they can slip in the back door.

It is commendable Sen. Bowles has found it convenient to look at a map of North Carolina not folded with east of Raleigh hidden. All candidates—true and hopefuls—study Eastern North Carolina history well until the votes are counted.

Then we get a little sick feeling ourselves when the money and appointments are passed out. The list of accomplishments of the Democratic Party is the best medicine we need, however, to get over being upset.
