TEATIME MUFFINS — These Teatime Apple Muffins are a perfect accompaniment to cups of amber-tinted tea on a chilly afternoon. They will be gobbled up in a hurry by the family if re-heated for breakfast and served with your favorite jam or marmalade.

We go for that bit about "an apple a day" for whatever reason.

Whether Johnny Appleseed introduced a new and palatable food to America or whether the apple was known to the ancient cave-man be truth or fiction we do know the apple well deserves the title, "King of Fruits."

Apples are the most versatile food on the market. Popular as a snack, eaten fresh, they also adapt to more cooked dishes than any other fruit. They're nutritious. And, now they are available all year round.

The peak season for apples is from October to March. The new crop is in just in time for you to dish up some delectable family favorites.

If you're looking for an excellent meat accompaniment Apples 'N Spice, a recipe from the test kitchens of the H. J. Heinz Company, will meet with everyone's approval. The spicy flavor and rosy hue make it especially appealing.

Apples 'N Spice
5 medium red cooking apples.

1/2 cup sugar.
1/2 cup apple juice or cider.

1/4 cup Heinz Tomato Ketchup.

1/2 teaspoon vinegar.

Peel and core apples; cut into thick slices. Combine with sugar and remaining ingredients in saucepan. Cook, uncovered, over low heat, stirring occasionally, until apples are fork tender. Serve warm as a meat accompaniment. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

These Teatime Apple Muffins are a perfect accompaniment to cups of amber-tinted tea on a chilly afternoon. If there are any left, re-heat them for breakfast and add a pot of jam or marmalade as a flavor complement. Filled with cream cheese or peanut butter and jam they make fine surprise tuck-aways in a lunch box. This is a recipe you'll like to keep and use often.

Teatime Apple Muffins
2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

1 tablespoon peanut butter.

1 egg.
1 cup milk.
2/3 cup peeled, chopped apple.

2 cups pancake mix.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity again to express our thanks and gratitude to the many wonderful people who have so willingly sent us donations, food, gifts, flowers, cards and phone calls while Henry has been ill. We cannot express in words what the visits and kind deeds that have been rendered to us has meant. Thanks again to everyone. Henry and Dorothy Layden.
