A Thought to Remember

By MARVIN BARRAM

Someone has said that there are five foods which are essential in a person's growth. They are love, learning, beauty, service and suffering. Without these foods the soul does not grow.

Given hunger—the soul grows in an experience of love. We are nourished when one hungers for learning, studies, seeks mastery of a subject. Beauty comes only when we strive to appreciate or create the beautiful.

Suffering as food may seem to us as hard experiences, but have you not noticed that men intent upon spiritual achievement have grown more surely and rapidly when suffering was their lot, rather than when life moved along like a song.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: No high or higher stage in life is reached without devotion.

IF YOU CAN SAVE MONEY AT THE SUPERMARKET, YOU CAN SAVE MONEY AT THE BANK.

Today's average American housewife is a pretty shrewd businesswoman. She has to be . . . what with all the problems that inflation has brought. That's why she's mighty careful about how she spends her money. And that's why grocery stores, supermarkets and the like run those advertisements telling her about their sales. They know she's constantly looking for ways to save money.

The supermarket is a pretty good place to save money. But it's not the only place housewives can save money. They could open a Peoples Bank Savings Account and save money there too.

So if you're a housewife trying to save money . . . try saving it at Peoples Bank.
