

BROAD STREET BULLETIN...

By Kate

I have a concert sent to me
Each morning from the school,
They do not know I'm listening
To their notes so clear and full.

Soon all will be quiet
And I'll miss the children's songs,
Unknown to them, they're giving
Happiness to one whose day's are long.

"whistle while you work."

I think I'm one of the luckiest people in the world to be able to lounge on a nice back porch and watch the flowers and birds and hear the children over at Swain school. God slows us down sometimes, I believe, so that we will notice the little things that are all around us, but which we take for granted.

My friend Mae Garris came to see me one morning this week before she went to work. She is a friend to many and it's such a pleasure to me to have her stop in for a chat.

Another friend brought us some of the most delicious strawberries this week. Each berry was almost perfect, and believe me, they were uniform in size and color, much enjoyed. Other friends brought ice cream and a lemon pie. Its a wonder I don't get "fat" from eating all these goodies.

I went fishing last week for just a little while with Buff and to my embarrassment (that's what she says) I caught more fish than he did. Pure luck, you know, but I hope he won't get disgusted and not take me again.

I am out of recipes this week and would appreciate some new ones from all of you. However, here are a few household hints to keep you going:
You can keep sponges clean and fresh after soaking them in cold water.
If a door jams just a bit in damp weather, rub the edge with furniture polish and it will open and close more smoothly.
Get your stainless steel toaster looking like new by wiping it off with a damp sponge sprinkled with dry baking soda. Rinse with fresh damp sponge and wipe dry.
A silk handkerchief or scarf worn on the head will keep the hairdo in better shape than any other fabric. It clings without messing the hair.
Improbable things that keep happening: Hemming and hawing; living in an ivory tower and having a thorn in your side.

CAR PROJECT

The Penelope Barker Society, children of the American Revolution, will collect soft drink bottles and wire coat hangers Saturday. Proceeds will be used to plant shrubbery at the Bandon Plantation School House on the Fredell property. Anyone having bottles or coat hangers to be picked up are asked to Phone 482-3737.

4-H Club Donates To Rescue Squad

The Center Hill 4-H Club met for its regular monthly meeting at 7 o'clock at the Center Hill Community Building on May 18. Mrs. Gladys White, Extension agent, held a workshop for those present and taught the group to make mosaic trays.

At 7:30 the adult leaders served dinner for the 4-H members, officers of the Edenton - Chowan Rescue Squad and officers of the Center Hill Extension Homemakers Club. The 4-H girls assisted in serving the food. After the dinner was over, Joe Roberts, vice president of the 4-H Club, presented the officials of the Rescue Squad a check, which was the result of the fried chicken dinner held Saturday, April 25. This check was received by Harry Lee Winslow, and all the men then introduced themselves and Murray Ashley thanked the group for inviting them to the dinner and for the check.

The regular 4-H meeting was held after the dinner was over.
