

Edenton Banker At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La.—C. A. Benson of Edenton, vice president of First National Bank of Eastern North Carolina, is among the 901 bankers attending the 21st annual two-week session of the School of Banking of the South being held at Louisiana State University. Classes started May 31 and continue through June 13, covering advanced study in all phases of banking, economics and finance.

The school, sponsored by bankers associations of 15 Southern states, requires attendance at campus sessions for three years, plus extensive home study work during the remainder of the year. An outstanding faculty of more than 100 bankers, businessmen, economists and educators teach 18 courses dealing with modern bank management, service and operations.

During their three years at LSU, banker-students receive a total of 180 hours of classroom instruction, 30 hours of review, organized evening study and written final examinations at the end of each year. Since the school began in 1950, certificates have been awarded to 2,700 graduates.

"This program makes an important contribution toward improving and increasing the type and quality of banking services being offered in the South," said Bradley Currey, director of the school. Mr. Currey is senior vice president of Trust Company of Atlanta, Ga.

Current enrollment includes bank officers from 22 states. In addition to varied class lectures, instruction concentrates on banking and business case studies.

Hard work becomes harder if it is postponed.

STOP AND THINK

By MARY LIZZIE LANE

Have you ever thought how drastic it would be, If nobody existed but just you and me? This world would be a lonely place, If we could see no other face.

Nobody to carry business on, So many things would go undone. There'd be no skyscrapers big and tall, And no electricity to light them all.

And no doctors to help us out, We would suffer, there's no doubt. And have no preachers to direct our way, It wouldn't be any pleasure for us to stay.

We'd have no chance to exchange a smile, There'd be no neighbors if we walked for miles. And flowers wouldn't mean so much then, Because we couldn't share them with our friends.

The stars would twinkle, the moon would be bright, And all of this wouldn't make things right. All we'd think about from day to day, How could we go on living this way?

So let's make friends as we journey along, Because we know we are a great throng. Prove to each other while we're here, We're willing to help them their burdens to share.

I like to see people in prosperity, you know, That's what keeps this world on the go. Don't forget to be neighborly along the way, This world would be a more pleasant place to stay.

"POEM OF BOAST"

By Mrs. Mildred Willis

Some folks boast on what they have, but never give God thanks for His share. I am thankful and humble, too, for whatever my Master do. God never gets tired or stops to rest. He gives out blessings you never can forget.

GRADUATES—Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Taylor were in Waterbury, Conn., May 24 to attend the graduation of their grandson, Matthew L. Stanley, Jr., from the Hartford Institute of Accounting. While there the Taylors visited other relatives and friends before returning home May 28.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of William S. Perry wishes to express their sincere thanks for the flowers, food, cards, and visits which helped so much in their time of sorrow.
