ElectriCities Planning Fight

ElectriCities of North Carolina membership in their annual meeting voted to intervene in all retail and wholesale electrical power rate hike cases brought by private companies serving the state.

ElectriCities representing more than one million consumer owners of 70 Tar Heel municipally owned electric distribution systems met at Pine Needles Lodge and Country Club, Southern Pines. The conference elected Kinston Mayor Simon C. Sitterson, Jr., president. Sitterson, serving his second full term as Kinston mayor, was the association's immediate past vice president, a member of the board of directors, and finance committee chairman. A graduate of the University of North Carolina (Chapel Hill) in commerce, Sitterson owns his own certified public accounting firm.

Immediate past president J. Garner Bagnal, Statesville mayor, was honored for three years of dedicated service at the association's fourth annual banquet by Tar Heel municipal officials in attendance.

New directors of ElectriCities include Joseph C. Taylor, Elizabeth City city manager.
