BUILDING FUTURE CITIZENS

As reports of increasing violence, crime, and just plain hell-raising on the part of American youth fill the news columns, so grow the complaints and criticism of our schools, teachers, and educational methods.

It should always be remembered, however, that MOST of our youth today are doing very well indeed, although, unfortunately, they do not always attract as much public attention as the wrong-doers.

By the same token, most of our teachers are performing very well, sometimes, it would seem, up against mounting odds. Most of our teachers, also, believe in America, believe in our youth, and have confidence in the future of both.

There is a strange state of mind to be found in certain circles in our land today—a sort of sick campaign of whispering and inference to the effect that a patriot is somehow an enemy of international peace and goodwill, that a man who loves his country must necessarily hate other countries, and that therefore we should soft-pedal the teaching in our schools of the great hero stories out of our past, and the wonderful songs and poems which breathed such unshamed love and admiration for the land which our ancestors came across so many leagues of stormy sea to transform into a nation which is today the wonder and envy of the human race.

It has been said in recent months by a high appointed official of California that the idea of America being 'sacred soil' is a lot of paranoiac patriotism. I am sure that to this gentleman the soil of his native land is not sacred, that it's just dirt, no different from the soil of any other land. That is his privilege. But I want to make my own position crystal clear. America's soil is sacred to me. So long as we have teachers such as Dr. Rafferty, we shall look with confidence to the future of our youth, and of a free America.

Drive Underway

The annual membership campaign for the James Iredell Association, Inc., is underway, according to Mrs. Cornelia J. Privott, president. Mrs. Privott said that money raised through memberships will be spent to proceed with furnishing the historic home. She said the furnishings committee remains active and they are constantly seeking appropriate pieces of the period 1750-1825. Judge James Iredell served as attorney general of North Carolina and associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, having received his appointment in 1790 from President George Washington. The association is a part of Historic Edenton, Inc.

Heard & Seen By Buff

Up in the Pennsylvania Dutch country, when a family moves from one house to another it is commonly referred to as a 'flittin'—and that's just what Chowan Hospital had on Saturday—and a big one at that. And this flittin' was a feather in the hat for members of the Rescue Squad and auxiliary policemen. Promptly at 12 o'clock noon the boys started to move patients from the old hospital to the new one and it was done with such dispatch and efficiency that the job was done in just about an hour and that included moving some from the old hospital over to the convalescent home and some in the convalescent home over in the old hospital. Excitement was rampant all Saturday morning in the old hospital as nurses gathered, packed and labeled patients' belongings and then very systematically assigned patients when to be moved and giving them a room number in the new hospital. Nothing but praise is due the hospital personnel, the Rescue Squad members, auxiliary policemen and even regular policemen who directed traffic while the moving was going on. And to say the least, all the patients in the new hospital seem to be delighted with their new 'home.' However, with such a splendid hospital and the wonderful hospital personnel, here's one who senses sort of a feeling of nostalgia in 'moving over.' The new hospital is much larger, more roomier and everything so convenient and spic and span while in the old hospital, very much smaller, it seemed that a fellow saw more of the nurses and a fellow didn't get 'lost' like I do in even getting in and out of the building after the doors are locked. To sum it up, it's sort of like moving from a small town to a large city. And even though everybody in the county has reason to be justly proud of the new hospital, the joy and satisfaction is not any greater than when the county realized a long ambition in getting the old hospital in operation after using the 'hospital on the base for a time.

A rather unique affair will be held in the National Guard armory in Elizabeth City Saturday, October 31, from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M., when the Albemarle Coin Club will hold a Coin Show. There will be a coin auction from 7 to 9 P. M. and two $10 gold pieces will be given away as door prizes. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Taylor of Edenton will have charge of a dealer table and Mr. Taylor says a B U silver dollar door prize will be awarded every hour of the sale. There will be no charge for admission and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are hopeful that many Edenton people will attend the affair.

The Missus was among those to be moved into the new hospital Saturday and to say the least she is delighted with her room. However, as nice as the hospital is, she'd much rather be able to be home—and so say I and many others. Anyway, about all she has seen of the new hospital is the outside, the elevator which took her to the second floor and the hall to her room. Now she'd like to be taken on a tour on a wheelchair to see the rest of this beautiful hospital.

The board approved paying $1.75 per foot for 285 feet of pipe to fill in an open ditch abutting school property if the money is available. A committee was appointed to check into the effect of the Holmes High recreational program if the board sold, transferred or sold the Town of Edenton property surrounding the Scout hut and tennis court for the town recreational program. A committee was also appointed to check into the prospects of a handball court. A projected $48,200 was budgeted to Edenton-Chowan Schools for such programs as teacher-aides and individualize aid for high school students not making it on the regular high school level, by the Federal assistance programs for desegregated schools.

Instruction Slated

The College of The Albemarle will conduct a 40-hour Private Pilots Ground School course at the Edenton Municipal Airport beginning tonight (Thursday) at 7 o'clock. The course will meet each Tuesday and Thursday night through December 17. A fee of $2 plus materials, will be charged. Federal aviation regulations, pre-flight facts, navigation, instruments and systems are some of the facets to be covered. Interested persons may register by calling the Adult Education Division at College of The Albemarle, phone 335-0821, or by calling Nelson Crandall, phone 482-3764.

Books Still Open

The last day to register for the November 3 election with registrars at regular voting places is Saturday, according to Mrs. George Hoskins, chairman, Chowan County Board of Elections. Mrs. Hoskins said the modified full-time registration begins January 1, 1971, with Mrs. Corinne Thorud as executive secretary. She will maintain hours in the county office building on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.

Freeway Endorsed; Federal Assistance To Be Asked

The Coastal Plains Regional Commission may be compared to the Appalachian Commission serving parts of the states of the Appalachian Mountain Region. Congress has already authorized $400 million for Appalachian highways. Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina University and conference chairman.

Dr. Jenkins, the apostle of progress in Eastern North Carolina, set the stage for the forum by addressing an appeal to those assembled, and to those at home, to be heard in the case of the great need for this coastal corridor highway. 'We must state clearly our need, our anticipated benefits, and inform of the service they can expect. We can and will be heard. Let us fling open the doors—open them wide—so that our collective voice in unity can be heard.'

Public Parade

Continued from Page 1 finding it difficult to come up with issues. In our opinion he isn't helping himself by jumping on our least favored morning daily of general circulation in Eastern North Carolina. Not when Roy Parker, Jr., a Northeasterner himself, has found there is still a place of objective reporting, leaving the editorials to those in that department.

Tune Up, Gang

For a community of this size there are more good musical groups meandering along the Public Parade than most places. Now they can compete for a chance to get out and see some of the world. They have a golden opportunity to spend three to five weeks in the Caribbean with salary and all expenses paid.

The Navy Resale System Office in Brooklyn, N. Y., is booking Country and Western, Dixieland and Folk groups to perform on a Caribbean entertainment circuit. They are also seeking specialty acts such as Blue Grass, Banjo Bands, Jug Bands and Variety Shows.

Groups will entertain at Navy enlisted men's clubs and other U. S. military clubs in Puerto Rico and Guantanamo Bay. Performance schedules will be tailored to the group's style of entertainment.

Audiences at these clubs are young men and women serving their country at overseas military bases. They are eager for American-style entertainment at their clubs and are interested in seeing different acts each week.

A new group leaves from Norfolk, Va., every two weeks. During the tour, the performers will have an opportunity to do some sightseeing in Puerto Rico.

To qualify, groups must be of professional quality with mature, serious performers interested in furthering their careers.

Interested groups should send a brief resume, group photo and demonstration tape to Bob Edwards, Entertainment Specialist (Code SMS-1), Navy Resale System Office, 3rd Avenue & 29 Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. 11232. Demo tapes should include 3 vocal and 2 musical numbers. Resume should contain the name, address and telephone number of the group's leader or manager.

Further information will be provided by the Navy Resale System Office to groups that qualify.

Warning Issued

Chowan County Forest Ranger Roger Spivey has announced that the danger of forest fires in Chowan County has significantly increased. He stated that the fall forest fire season has begun and that the occurrence of forest fires may be expected to increase due to the drying of forest fuels and high winds associated with the season.

Ranger Spivey explains that one fire problem unique to the season is fires started by improperly maintained electric fences. He urges all persons using electric fences to make periodic inspections and to look for wires low to ground and dry grass close to wires. He also urges anyone conducting burning in or near the woods to exercise caution.

He gave the following numbers for reporting forest fires: Chowan tower, 482-4554; Edenton Fire Department, 482-2727; and Elizabeth City, 335-4373.

The Coastal Corridor Highway is to connect Norfolk, Va., and the Savannah, Ga., area. It will provide the coastal links with the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel to Delmarva and the Metropolitan North, as well to Coastal Georgia and Florida to the South.

This primary connector highway will link the key coastal cities of North Carolina and South Carolina as it follows highly direct routes from one city to another. It will be a multi-lane limited access with traffic approaches and exits providing safe entrance and exists at local points along the route.

It is estimated that the benefits—to cost factor is in excess of five-to-one by economic measure. The time that will be saved by truckers as they move from Florida to Philadelphia is estimated to be four hours or more.

The greatest measure of hope, along the construction route, is that of accessibility. The relative remoteness of these coastal areas has long hampered economic growth. Recent public and private studies advance the recognition that all forms of economic improvement are contingent upon good transportation, especially highway transportation. The Coastal areas of North and South Carolina offer a variety of economic possibilities not yet developed, the tenor of the meeting indicated, and which can never be developed to their potential unless good highways provide accessibility. The population explosion and its accompanying problems will soon demand parity from these potential areas of the coastland. These areas will measure up short of the demand until invested in to the tune of this highway cost.
