

Happenings At Chowan High School

By SANDRA SPIVEY

They were chosen last Monday by their grade level.

Varsity Cheerleaders

The varsity cheerleaders are well qualified for the honor that was given to them of being elected as a cheerleader to represent their school.

Each and everyone of the girls is a leader in school activities. They are friendly and cooperative.

Each girl enjoys cheering. They cheer in such a way that they show they believe that they represent the best school around.

Mrs. Anne Asbell, cheering sponsor, states, "These girls possess a great school spirit and radiate it in such a way that the other students find it to be very contagious.

Bulldogs

Whether on the court, in a game or in practice, the word for the Bulldogs is hustle.

Even though they lost their first two games, they displayed awesome power on the boards and on the fast breaks.

Glenn Riddick, one of the tri-captains, was chosen All-East Tidewater Conference last year.

Winston Rountree, another captain, playing center, jumps up as high as anyone.

Henry Hinton, last of the three captains, has played all four years of high school and is the playmaker.

The starting lineup is completed with Paul White and Waverly Westbrook, both juniors.

This week they play Gates County two times with revenge on their minds. Last year Gates beat Chowan twice by three points and by five points.

They plan a few surprises this year for the Gacos.

The team is very optimistic about the season. With a few breaks, they are going to be tough to contend with.

Bulldogettes

The Bulldogettes pose somewhat of a problem to Coach Harry Land this year in that eight or nine of the squad are so near in ability, a starting lineup is tough to select.

First there is Patricia Perry. No problem there. Patricia, a rover, is an All-Conference performer and makes the team go. Her desire and hustle are an inspiration to coach and team.

This was attested to when the girls selected her as a tri-captain.

Then we have Rhonda Evans, again a tri-captain, whose quiet determination is admired by all the Bulldogettes. Rhonda starts at either forward or guard.

Then there is Sheila Byrum, a sophomore rover, who has all the moves. Moves that most girls haven't even dreamed of yet. Again, no problem, she will play somewhere.

And we have Charlotte Layton, an outstanding leaper for a girl. We have to find a place for her also.

Here the problem begins. Carleen Goodwin, another sophomore, and starter in the first game, is displaying outstanding potential thus far this season.

But right here and probably the single most outstanding ing hustler at the guard is Gwen Ward. A girl with the 110 per cent attitude, a possible starter as well.

We also have a problem at guard where our senior tri-captain and first game starter, Marie Chappell, is being pushed by a freshman surprise, Belinda Byrum. Both will see plenty of action.

Also, there is Vickie Leary. She, too, was a first game starter and is improving daily.

"Vickie has improved greatly this year and is a pleasant surprise," said Coach Land.

And waiting in the wings should any of these girls fall off are Susan Jordan, her sister Joan, Lou Ann Bass, Gail Harrell, Joan Hare and Cindy Ward.

Miss Hare, in particular, has been looking good lately and has the quickest release on the team.

The season is still a mystery; the girls are young and inexperienced but their potential may blossom early and if so it will be all roses in Bulldog country.

Thanksgiving Convention

Thanksgiving Day through Saturday I will be attending the NSPA 50th anniversary press conference at the Palmer House Hotel in Chicago.

My goal is to take all the classes available for a columnist, then I can keep you better informed about the happenings at Chowan High School.
