Bertie Choirs On Mall Program

The Bertie Senior High School Chorus of Windsor is slated to perform at Tarrytown Mall in Rocky Mount as participants in the sixth annual Christmas music festival.

They will present a program of varied Christmas selections at 9:30 P. M. today (Thursday) on the Mall.

Miss Fonda Smithwick will direct the group. Among their special songs "Twas the Night Before Christmas" in pantomime will be presented.

The Bertie Junior High School Chorus is also slated to perform in the festival. Miss Smithwick will direct the chorus in a program of Christmas music at 4:30 P. M. Friday.

Both choirs will perform beneath the boughs of the Magic Christmas Tree. By an electronic process, the hundreds of twinkling lights adorning the tree change color in rhythm to the music, responding to each change in tone.

Choirs and bands from all over Eastern and Central North Carolina will perform nightly. Over 50 groups will have participated when the festival closes on December 23.

Senator Jordan Reports From Washington

WASHINGTON — Senator B. Everett Jordan (D-NC) said Wednesday he has "definite assurance" that the Federal Water Quality Administration does not consider current pollution factors in the Cape Fear Basin grounds for delaying construction of the New Hope Dam.

Jordan disclosed that after a discussion with J. Gary Gardner, FWQA regional operations director, of an interim report issued by the agency in mid-November on water samplings taken in the area.

He quoted Gardner as saying that the samplings did no more than confirm the continued existence of algae-producing factors of which his agency, the Army Corps of Engineers and the North Carolina Department of Water and Air Resources had been aware for the past several years.

Gardner also said, Jordan reported, that "we do not anticipate there will be any long-range problem" that would in any way alter the New Hope plans, "because the conditions can be remedied under North Carolina's water quality standards and we have every confidence that the state is going to enforce those standards."

The Tar Heel lawmaker also quoted Gardner as saying that there would be ample time, during the three-year period before the lake is filled for those corrective steps to be taken.

Gardner further explained, Jordan said, that the sampling upon which the November report was based was taken during "a very low flow period" and therefore reflected a higher pollution factor than would otherwise have been the case and which will be taken into account when a third sampling is made next January.

Jordan said he checked with Gardner because of a "deep concern" over the erroneous impression which had gained wide circulation in the state as a result of the interim report.

The information regarding the sampling was covered in a November 19 letter from Gardner to the Wilmington District Army Engineer, with a copy to the North Carolina Department of Water and Air Resources.

It was intended, according to Gardner, simply as advisory information on the progress of the FWQA's pre-impoundment study of the project and not in any sense to raise new questions about the project.

"I am glad to get this matter clarified," Jordan asserted, "because I regard the New Hope development as completely sound and one that is vitally important to the future of North Carolina. I have full confidence that it will meet every need for which it was designed."

Jordan made it clear in that connection that he will work closely with all agencies in their efforts to eliminate any pollution factors during the construction period.

"As a member of the Senate Public Works Committee I have helped draft and have supported every measure devised there to deal with water and air pollution, solid waste disposal and environmental protection.

"I want the New Hope project to be pollution-free and I think it can be.

"I am just as intent on seeing that it is carried to completion and I think it would be a terrible tragedy for its progress to be interrupted without any valid cause."
