Producers Benefit By Early Certification, ASCS Reports
Producers have to certify their compliance under the 1971 set aside farm programs. Deadline for certification in Chowan County is June 20, according to A. C. Griffin, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

In most cases, it will be to a producer's advantage to certify his program as early as possible, he said. However, he emphasized that early certification is optional, and that a producer may certify at any time through June 20.

A producer must complete his certification before he can receive any set aside payment. To certify, a producer signs a statement at the county ASCS office showing the acreages devoted to various crops under the 1971 farm programs. At the same time, he designates the amount and location of his set aside acres.

"The Chowan County ASCS office is ready to give farmers all possible help in correctly certifying their acres," Griffin said. "County Executive Director H. O. West and his staff will be glad to answer any questions or help with problems."

Producers who certify in time for data to be processed will get checks for their preliminary set aside program payments as soon after July 1 as possible.

The ASC Committee chairman pointed out that the preliminary feed grain and cotton payments could be complete, as additional payments depend on changes in market conditions. Such changes are not foreseen, he said.

First payment in the cotton program will be 15 cents a pound. In corn it is set at 32 cents per bushel, and the grain sorghum rate is 29 cents a bushel. Feed grain payments are made on established farm yield times one-half the feed grain base; those for cotton on the established yield times acre planted, but not in excess of the farm's allotment, Griffin explained.

The preliminary wheat payment has not yet been announced but will be 75 percent of the estimated final value of domestic certificates. Producers receive photocopies of aerial photography of their farms to help them certify, Griffin said. The photocopies show boundaries of farms and most up-to-date field acreage information. They are valuable for planning farm operations as well as for certification of program compliance.

The county ASCS office also provides measurement service at cost, to help producers determine acreages at planting or at certification time.

"Most producers are familiar with our system of certification, followed by spot checks around the county to verify accuracy of these statements," Griffin said.

"Producers can certify acreages once they complete their planting operations if they do not plan to make any changes. The important thing is to certify accurately and as soon as practical for early payments. But they must remember no changes can be made after certification."

SERMON TOPIC
"Scratch One Giant" is the sermon topic of Rev. E. L. Earnhardt, pastor of Edenton Methodist Church, for the morning worship service. His text is taken from Matthew 19:25-26.

Few men have grown unto greatness whose names are allied to ridicule.
—M. F. Tupper.

Well, another hole-in-one, this one by Joe Crisanti on Saturday, June 5, on hole No. 5. Joe made his with a No. 3 wood to cover the 170 yards. Nice going, Joe. Pretty good for a 69-year-old.

Playing with Joe at the time were: O. E. Duncan, J. E. Debnam and Rev. R. L. Wilken.

Yes, we won another one. Edenton played host to Williamston and we won by 11 points. Williamston was the leading team in the association. This was the last match for this year and our record was two wins, one draw and four losses and one default.

Some Anthill!

Well, it's not really an anthill, but it does seem to attract people like ants—and in comparison to its size, they look like ants while climbing it.

Each year, some 250,000 people ascend the slopes of America's highest coastal dune. It's Jockey Ridge, of course, and it's in the same old location at Nags Head...

That's some sandpile to have right in your own backyard, isn't it?
