Edenton Churches To Hold Services

For the second year, five Edenton churches will sponsor half-hour services during Holy Week — beginning at noon. The location will be St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Broad and Church Streets and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The 30-minute services will include special music each day and a sermon addressed to one of the events in Holy Week.

The speakers next week are as follows:

Monday Before Easter: Rev. George B. Holmes, rector, St. Paul's Episcopal Church—"The Cleansing of the Temple"

Tuesday Before Easter: Rev. Robert E. Gray, pastor, Edenton Baptist Church—"The Widow's Mite"

Wednesday Before Easter: Rev. Warren G. Nance, pastor, Edenton Presbyterian Church—"The Anointing"

Maundy Thursday: Rev. E. L. Earnhardt, pastor, Edenton Methodist Church—"The Trial"

Good Friday: Father Robert L. Wilken, pastor, St. Ann's Catholic Church—"The Crucifixion"

On Good Friday services will continue from noon through 3 o'clock in observance of the Three Hours. Hymns will be sung at 12:30 P. M., 1 P. M., 1:30 P. M., 2 P. M., 2:30 P. M., and 3 P. M., for arrivals and departures. One may attend from noon to 3 o'clock or in half-hour periods.

In addition to the noon services at St. Paul's during Holy Week the regular 10:30 A. M. Holy Communion will be celebrated Wednesday, and The Lord's Supper on Maundy Thursday at 8 P. M.

The Edenton United Methodist Church will hold Easter Sunrise Services at 6 A. M., Sunday, April 2 on the Courthouse Green. The citizens of this community and surrounding area are invited to participate in the service.

Moore Will Speak At Co-Op Dinner

Carmel Moore of Laurel, Del., a cooperative market manager, will be guest speaker at the annual stockholders meeting of Chowan Cooperative Produce Exchange. The meeting will be held at 7 P. M., tonight (Thursday) at Rocky Hock Community Center.

S. C. Layton, president, said the meeting is not limited to stockholders and all vegetable producers and buyers are encouraged to attend.

The market experienced considerable growth in 1971—the first year it operated with a full-time manager. "Three times as much produce was sold through the market in 1971 as was sold in 1970," Layton points out. "I believe most will agree that the market was able to generate good prices for the produce that was offered."

Chowan Cooperative Produce Exchange last year received a grant and loan from the Office of Economic Opportunity, through the N. C. Rural Fund for Development.

presided. Wallace Evans, Chowan County AADA chairman, was in charge of arrangements and James C. (Pete) Dail, committee member, was in charge of tickets. There were 181 people present with representation from each of the 10 counties in Northeastern North Carolina.

Amburn, while disappointed that more candidates could not work the meeting into their schedule, said it was a successful event and one which gave people in leadership positions in the area an opportunity to get to know the various candidates better.

Candidates not present, but who sent representatives, were: Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles and Jim Hunt. Dr. Reginald Hawkins had informed the committee earlier that he would be unable to attend.

Heard & Seen "By Buff"

My comment about the clocks in town was reason for me to be called to the Court House one day last week. The clock on the old building was "off key" a few days which was caused by the big hands getting caught and not due to the mechanism operating the clock. In fact Glenn Perry and I climbed up the stairs to the clock and, though of some age, the clock works look like brand new due to the care taken by Friend Glenn. Then, too Glenn has added some contraptions of his own invention which make for a perfect operating clock. In fact, it appeared to me to be almost as complicated as the Herald's typesetting machines, but Glenn is well versed with every angle and has it under control. I didn't know it, but Glenn has been caring and overseeing the clock for a long time and he is to be commended for the job he's doing. In fact, I've been told that he's sort of a handy man around the Court House, as well as the county office building, in the course of which he has saved the county quite a few pennies.

Ralph Van Matre has a lengthy letter to the editor in this week's Herald. It has to do with long range planning, especially in connection with the possible construction of a new Court House. Regarding parking, Mr. Van Matre suggests clearing the entire block bounded by Broad, Queen, Church and Court Streets to create an ample parking area. I don't know if ever or when this idea would be carried out, but if it is, there's at least one who'll put up a dickens of a howl—and Mr. Van Matre would, too, if he happened to live where I live.

It looks like times are changing in some respects. As a youngster, whenever a Methodist preacher had dinner at our house, my mother always made sure she prepared chicken in some sort of fashion, for she said all preachers have a weakness for chicken. But the other night I had three Methodist preachers as my guests for the evening meal (nope, I didn't cook it) and we went out to a restaurant. And much to my surprise, though chicken was on the menu, nary a one of 'em ordered chicken.

Then on the other hand some things do not change very much. For instance, I served on Town Council for 30 years and it's no telling during that time how many times the dog problem popped up at Council meetings, and still the problem has not been solved. Now, I see that on the Town Council's agenda at the last meeting the moss-covered dog problem was again discussed. The Councilmen agreed that they felt there is a need for a dog ordinance and that it should be enforced. That's well and good—but they better be darn careful whose dog they kill. The dog problem is a hard nut to crack. It's been tried many times, but here's hoping the present members of the board will find a solution.

Hec Lupton and his wife are sojourning in San Diego, Calif., and on a postcard to The Herald Gang he wrote: "Having a great time. The weather is just perfect." But he hasn't much on us in this neck of the woods, for the weather here lately has been mighty little less than perfect. Incidentally, the Luptons left Saturday for a trip to Kauai and Honolulu. I'm expecting a card from Hec saying, "The girls are 'bootiful!'"

It's that time of year when a lot of us have been receiving catalogs from nurseries and seed houses. But wouldn't it be wonderful if the flowers and vegetables came up to catalogs' descriptions and looked like the pictures in the catalogs?

Well, more and more of the "boys" are joining the ranks of whisker growers for Edenton's 250th anniversary. Of course, some are making more progress than others, for Billy Gardner and James Bond are about "ripe." But then I asked Mayor George Alma Byrum at the Rotary meeting last Thursday if he was going to grow a beard for the event. "Why, certainly," he replied, "can't you see it?" Well, I put on my specks and sure enough I could see a little hair over his chin and cheeks. Of course, this whisker comment is sort of "sour grapes" on my part, for I couldn't grow a beard or mustache even if I wanted to.

C. Y. Parrish, Sr. Taken In Death

Carey Yates Parrish, Sr., Route 2, Edenton, died in Chowan Hospital Monday night following an illness of three years. Mr. Parrish was 82.

He was a prominent Chowan County farmer.

A native of this county, Mr. Parrish was born May 5, 1889, son of the late Andrew A., and Mary Ward Parrish. He was married to Mrs. Beulah Moore Parrish, who survives.

Also surviving are four sons: Frank E. Parrish of Virginia Beach, Va.; and Ralph E., Yates, and Jimmie M. Parrish, all of Edenton; and 12 grandchildren.

He was a member of Edenton Baptist Church.

Funeral services for Mr. Parrish were held at 3 P. M., Wednesday at Colonial Funeral Home with Rev. Robert E. Gray officiating. Burial was in Beaver Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers were C. Y., J. M., Jerry, Frankie, Lloyd and Andrew Parrish, Jr. Colonial Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Anyone can write a book. The trick is getting someone to read the darn thing, and pay for it.

Public Parade

because of the great need for Red Cross services.

This resulted in a meeting of representatives from civic clubs and public agencies and Mr. Jackson's recommendation for a strong board of directors and rigid organization, being adopted.

The group chose Thomas M. Surratt, administrator of Chowan Hospital, as new chapter chairman. Their choice was a wise one, for we know few people with Mr. Surratt's ability to not only organize, but to motivate people into public service.

The Chowan County Chapter, American Red Cross, then is still in capable hands.

It does not, however, speak well for the community when worthy organizations, which operate for the public good, must continuously face crisis situations, when the ox has to get so mired in the ditch; when threats of pull-outs must be made; before anyone considers the noise more than crying in the wilderness.

To enjoy continued success in projects, programs and services indicative of a well-balanced community; to provide a better place in which to live, work and play; to maintain a reputation of being the hub of the Albemarle Area, more input is needed from those who, in the past, have been just going along for the ride.

port, Newport News, Va. Miller was born in Washington, D. C., educated at the University of Virginia, and served in the U. S. Navy as a fighter pilot for six years prior to resigning to go into the general aviation business.

Ram is a full-service general aviation company providing flight instruction, charter service, fueling, maintenance, electronic sales and service and aircraft sales. The company is a dealer for Piper, Cessna, American, and Aero Commander aircraft as well as all the major aircraft radio manufacturers.

With operations at Newport News and Richmond (Hanover County Airport) as well as Elizabeth City and Edenton, Ram Aviation is well situated to handle the general aviation needs of Tidewater Virginia and Northeastern North Carolina, according to Miller.

The fixed-base operator at the airport since April 1, 1968, has been Edenton Aviation, Inc. Ray Ellis has served as manager.

EIC Will Direct Food To Migrants

Economic Improvement Council, Inc., has entered into a contractual agreement with the N. C. Council of Churches Migrant Project to administer emergency food service to migrants and seasonal farm workers.

This was announced by Wilbur G. Pierce, EIC executive director, following a conference here.

The objective of the program is to see that the nutritional needs of migrant and seasonal farm workers are met. Funds may also be used for developing and implementing projects designed to assist the target groups in solving their own problems.

The program will be supervised by Mrs. Maggie Griffin, nutritionist on the E.I.C. staff.

The major focus of this program will be to work closely with each Department of Social Services in meeting farm workers' needs for food assistance.

Of paramount importance, here, are the food stamps and commodity distribution programs. Because emergency food money can be used only when no assistance from other sources is available to meet the immediate crisis, E.I.C. will work with the local welfare departments to obtain certification for applicants in the federal food programs in each county.

E.I.C. through this program, will be assisting self-help neighborhood groups to establish buying clubs, grocery co-operatives and food preservation, canning and freezing co-ops.

PERSONAL Dear John Nomore Standoffish:

Yes, it's quiet now, on all fronts, and your speaking of looking at perspectives brings in mind, loyalty, Koretizing has competitive ideas and keeps up with quality service. At Koretizing, they are loyal to their customers, not their customers loyal to them. It's hard to leave an old friend, but it's wise to help his business become competitive. After all, it's only right for the old friend to give you the service you deserve, for your investment in him. It's competition that helps your community grow.

Very truly yours, BEN VERY MANYMILES P. S.—There is a thing known as misplaced loyalty, you know, which reminds me of Marcia. Did she take you to the cleaners? t t c

Dear Ben Many miles: Gosh, since your last note, it really is quiet outside. You're absolutely right, you know, anyone can find something wrong with anything if one wishes to look in that direction. Badmouthing from negative sources are like negative photostats, you can see right through them. Koretizing's new and free pickup service at laundromat price is a great idea and there is nothing negative about this kind of service. Wish I'd thought of it. I'm giving them a positive call.

Sincerely, John Nomore Standoffish. t t c
