Mrs. Darby Takes Post With Edenton Library

Shepard-Pruden Memorial Library recently obtained a new librarian, Mrs. Louise W. Darby of Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Darby moved to Edenton in August.

She is the wife of Thomas E. Darby and they have seven children, five sons and two daughters. Two of their sons are living in Edenton, Dana Duncan Darby, seven, and Bruce Andrew Darby, 21, who is a student at Kent State University.

Mrs. Darby was born in Marietta, Ohio, and she stated that her father was a construction worker. Because of this, she was able to travel a lot. Mrs. Darby was educated at Ohio State University, where she received her Bachelor of Architecture degree, and she received her Masters degree in Library Science at the University of Kentucky.

Originally she was an architect and had many years of experience in that field, but he left the line of work because, as she stated, is she "got tired of finding women's lib before it was popular."

The Darbys discovered North Carolina in passing through enroute to South Carolina to visit one of their married daughters. She remarked that a primary reason for moving into the South and specifically this state was the climate and opportunity.

Mrs. Darby remarked that she and her husband liked Edenton because of the beauty of the town, friendliness of the people and its location on the Albemarle Sound. They are boating enthusiasts.

In respect to her work with the library, she said that she is interested in working primarily with young people of high school and college age. One of her primary objectives with the library is to initiate and implement a more comprehensive outside resources program.

The wedding is planned for October 22 in the Cokesbury United Methodist Church, Stedman.

Grandparents of the bride-elect are Mrs. John Wesley McMillan, Sr., of Stedman and Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Layton, Sr., Route 3, Edenton.
