ASCS News

FLUE-CURED TOBACCO PRODUCERS MAY DESIGNATE MARKETS

Flue-cured tobacco growers will be offered opportunity to voluntarily designate a preferred market town in which to sell a portion or all of their tobacco crop, it was announced here today A. C. Griffin, Chairman of the Chowan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation ASC Committee.

The option to choose a marketing facility is one of several proposals made by a Tobacco Marketing System Study Committee named by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz. The committee recommendations were developed to improve the marketing of flue-cured and burley tobacco, Chairman Griffin explained.

He said another result of the Study Committee Report is that producers of flue-cured tobacco are being urged to improve the quality of their tobacco by removing strings, sand, and other foreign matter before marketing. He added that growers are requested to have adequate storage space available to maintain tobacco in good condition until it can be marketed.

Griffin said flue-cured tobacco growers in Chowan County will receive letters from the County ASCS Office informing that they can designate a particular market town. The market designated must be within the production belt where the farm is located. Producers may designate up to, but not more than 100 per cent of the effective farm quota. The designation should be made by the farm operator at the County ASCS Office by Thursday, June 28, Griffin said.

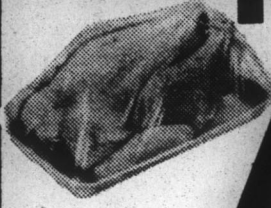

He indicated the Tobacco Industry Marketing Committee is expected to allocate sales time to the market within each belt in proportion to designations made by growers.

Today, people in the United States eat about 11 billion bananas in one year—52 bananas for each man, woman and child.
