SPICY CHICKEN SALAD MOLD—Unflavored gelatin creates a Spicy Chicken Salad Mold crisped with celery and green pepper and tanged with lime juice. Refreshing iced tea and buttery crescent rolls round out a pleasant summer lunch menu.

From The Herald Kitchen

By MILDRED HUSKINS
Chicken is more than a bird when it is molded in a spicy salad.

Of course, chicken is a bird with great potential. It is one of our most popular meats, especially now with other kinds so high in price. Low in calories and rich in protein, chicken lends itself to all manner of delicious dishes.

One of the nicest ways to use chicken in the summertime is in salads and it goes further that way. A tasty salad is one which combines cooked chicken, celery, green pepper, and red pimiento for bright color in a sparkling gel. These ingredients are folded into an unflavored gelatine mixture that is delightfully spiced and freshened with horseradish, pepper sauce, and lime juice.

The real beauty of making salads such as this one is that you prepare them ahead and they simply wait in the refrigerator until serving time.

Spicy Chicken Salad Mold
3 1/2 cups water, divided

1/2 cup lime juice
3 tablespoons prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine

2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/4 cup diced drained pimiento
In medium saucepan, combine three cups water, lime juice, horseradish, salt, and Tabasco; bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes. In small bowl, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over remaining half cup water; let stand until gelatine is moistened, then add to hot liquid. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, about two minutes. Chill, stirring

THE DANGER OF POLIO IN 1973

Twenty years ago the hot summer months brought the fear of polio to every parent. And now, in 1973, in spite of the availability of an easy to administer and effective vaccine against polio, one out of every three children in the 1-4-year old age group has not been immunized.

With the development of the oral dosage, Sabin vaccine, protection can be obtained without any discomfort. It is administered on a sugar cube or a few flavored drops are put into the child's mouth. Only by being sure that all children are immunized can we be certain this dread disease will remain dormant.
