

Bandon Notebook By Eleanor F. Jackson

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Church were in Philadelphia on Sunday. It was on a sad mission, this time...the passing away of Thomas Church, on Saturday. He was Alfred's brother. Having been ill for a long time it was none the less a shock to Bandon's congregation. The A. J. Church family, always so prayerfully hopeful and helpful concerning others, now has the unreserved sympathy, especially of all who know them personally.

G. Douglas Tise, acting superintendent of Bandon's Sunday School, took over for Supt. Church. Mrs. Thomas H. (Louise) Dilday filled in for Mrs. Church, as secretary-treasurer.

Clarence S. Barnes was called upon to give the opening prayer. Mrs. W. S. (Judy) Waters, of Portsmouth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Smith, sang the beautiful solo, "Whispering Hope." Mrs. H. T. (Margaret) Bunting was the organist.

William F. (Butch) Smith was pianist, in duet, as well as teacher for all "the over-12's" and Mrs. G. D. (Evelyn) Tise taught "the under-12's." Continuing prayers were asked for Mrs. W. V. (Berlyne) Blanchard, C. H. Pierce and little Pat Weston. Ushers included R. C. Gilliam, F. W. Jolly, D. W. Lapham and W. N. Waters.

One's self-made, all too sketchy notes prove difficult to decipher on occasion, particularly when it comes to visitors' names. We trust the following are spelled right: Mrs. Cheryl Ashley and baby son, Brian; Mrs. Hope Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Moore...all from Suffolk. Mrs. Moore has been like a grandmother to the Smith grandchildren, who love her dearly.

Mrs. W. N. (Louise) Waters announced the fact that baked goods and home-canned food would be needed for her food table at the bazaar on August 4 and 5. It would be a help if she could be told today or tomorrow as to what will be donated and how and when it can be delivered.

Mrs. W. O. (Grace) Schie also spoke up for "white elephant" articles, so popular at last year's bazaar. This writer takes the liberty of giving the phone numbers of Mrs. Waters...221-8148, and Mrs. Schie...221-8181. Since there will be so much getting ready today and Friday at the chapel, do try at night if there's no answer.

In the social news department, Saturday was an important time for many chapel members and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Jolly celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary with the families of their two sons and two daughter. Quite a crowd! May they have many, many more such happy occasions. Chowan River and the Jolly's home in Arrowhead were the settings for a day of fun.

Around Chowan Farms

By R. M. THOMPSON, County Extension Chairman

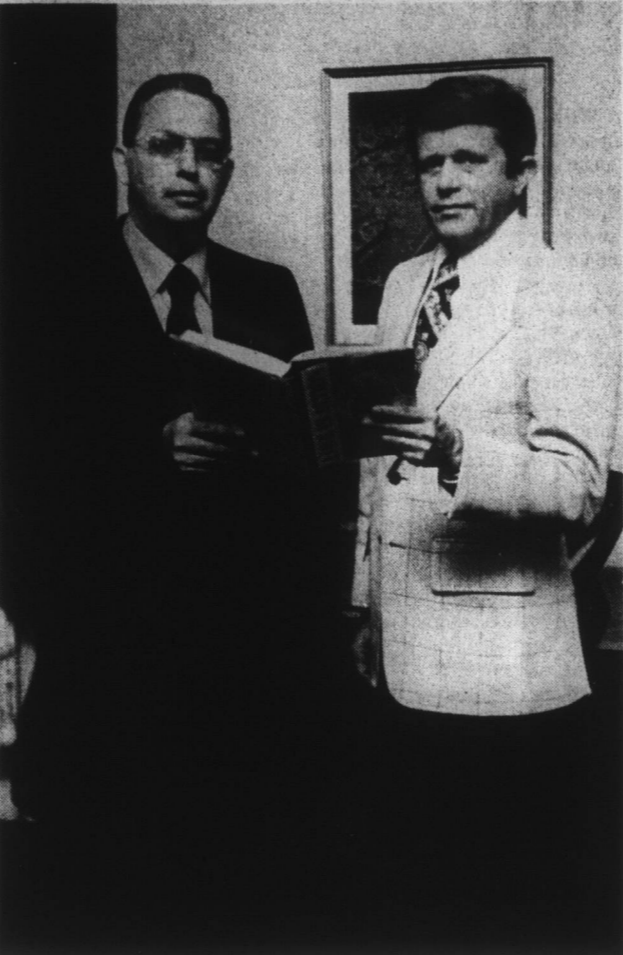

With the price of soybeans at the present level, a farmer should do everything possible to increase the yield. If you are bothered with morning glories or cockleburbs now is the time to apply a control, in most cases the 2-4-DB which is sold as Butoxone or Butyrac. This should be applied a week before blooming through a week after blooming. It doesn't give much control on red root pig weed, but it does a good job on cockleburbs and morning glories. We also believe that you should do everything that is necessary to control insects in soybeans and the last week of August and the first week of September is normally the best time to apply the insecticides for soybean insects. The materials we recommend for soybeans to control insects are Sevin or Lannate. We believe that one and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Smith, of Arrowhead and Portsmouth, planned a "fish-fry" outdoors, on that same day and evening. Crowds of friends drove up at about the same time as those torrential cloud bursts arrived. Since neither house could accommodate the great number, permission was asked and gladly given to use Fellowship Hall. So, the fish were fried and carried there. As Mrs. Smith explained, "so the chapel wouldn't smell fishy on Sunday." Evidently it was a satisfactory solution, much appreciated and enjoyed.

Sunday, the Rev. Bennie Crawford, of Edenton will be welcomed as the preacher of the day, as he is on every "first Sunday" at 11 A.M. in the church building. It would be a nice idea to ask a weekend neighbor to join you in whatever clothes they have on hand. At 9:45 the Sunday School classes begin. Bring the children along, too.

Sam J. Ervin Says

WASHINGTON—President Nixon's Phase IV economic controls were only hours old when it became evident that prices of many consumer products, including many foods, were on their way up. Not only that but I am told in short supply and it may become a scarce item on the family table in a matter of days.

The cost of owning a home and keeping it operating is going up at a rapid rate. Housing costs are rising far more rapidly than incomes and so are home repairs, and day-to-day expenses. The energy crisis, among other things, is adding greatly to the cost of keeping a residence.

Inflation and the conditions which it breeds poses immense problems for us all whether we are growers, manufacturers, craftsmen or consumers. Once again we see that controls and price freezes work only for a short time, and only permit us to correct fundamental defects in the economy.

What we are witnessing now in respect to inflation is in large measure due to excesses in federal spending that have eroded the value of the dollar and the resources of our country. Many of our troubles today are due to the unwise philosophy that was widely held in high places in our government in the years following World War II that our country could afford the luxury of giving away vast amounts of our resources to other nations—more than $150-billion—without any detriment to the country.

That philosophy also made it impossible to hold down the costs of social welfare programs in this country. When the United States gave large sums to the citizens of other nations it could not politically deny benefits to our own impoverished citizens.

Soon the "red ink" began to pile up yearly in the federal budget and new budget concepts were adopted by one Administration after another to conceal the magnitude and the consequences of deficit spending from the people.

There is hope that change is on the way. Congress is making efforts at this session to restore fiscal responsibility in government. Fiscal responsibility ought to be a matter of the highest priority. I am pleased that a bill which I introduced on April 11 to establish new congressional budget procedures to set ceilings on both outlays and budget authority, S. 1541, was approved last week by the Senate Subcommittee on Budgeting, Management and Expenditures of the Government Operations Committee. That bill now goes to the full Government Operations Committee, of which I am Chairman. I trust that the Committee can report this bill to the Senate after the August recess.

The adoption of this measure would provide budget control by creating standing committees on the budget in both Houses of Congress, establishing a Congressional Office of the Budget equivalent in status to the General Accounting Office, moving up the date of submission of the President's
