How Many Facets Are There on a Diamond? Full-cut diamonds have 58 facets which play with the light and make the diamond sparkle. Above the girdle (the diamond's largest circumference) are 32 facets plus the top table; below are 24 facets plus the culet or point.

How Much of a Diamond's Weight Is Lost in Cutting?
Believe it or not, 50% of the precious rough diamond is ground away. But there's no waste in diamond cutting. Even the diamond dust is used again to cut another diamond. Remember, since diamond is so hard, only diamond can cut diamond.
