

Marion Kirby, former coach of Edenton Aces football team but now new athletic director and head football coach at Page High School at Greensboro, had a big write-up in the Greensboro Daily News a little while back. Kirby was introduced at a mid-morning meeting at the Acorn Restaurant with news media and members of the Page Pirates Booster Club. Of course, friend Kirby was asked to speak during which he said, "Well, I would say this will be a little bit of a change for me. No, quite a big change. I never dreamed that when I moved, it would be to a place with 215,000 more people. Greensboro does have 220,000 doesn't it? Down at home a few people don't believe there's been a man on the moon yet." While in Edenton Coach Kirby's teams hung up an enviable record of 59-14-3 which caught the attention of many larger schools. And Kirby's friends in Edenton and former football players hope he will be equally successful in the bigger time football arena.

There's no telling what some women (and maybe some men) will do in order to lose some avoirdupois. And some of 'em are very particular about the equipment they use. For instance, I've heard of one lady who has a bicycle mounted on a frame and she peddles away for dear life. But the last few days she has not been peddling, so one of her friends asked her why she was not taking her usual exercise. "Well," said the lady, "one of the tires has gone flat."

Without a doubt quite a few housewives are hunting what seems like bargains these days. I happened to buy a pack of tobacco and some matches the other day in one of our stores when a lady asked, "Has the price gone up on that stuff you just bought?" I told her that the price hadn't gone up within the last few weeks, which brought from her this comment: "Well, I think I'll buy some tomorrow, for I'd like to buy something for which the price hasn't gone sky high."

And speaking about high prices, it's not unusual for some people to complain and bellyache about the high prices of just about everything these days. But let some of these same people go on a fishing trip or a vacation—there's little squabbling about the price of bait (bloodworms on the piers $2.08 a dozen and then some of them are too thin to put on a hook) or anything else that has to be bought in order to have some recreation and good time.

One hears a large number of greetings while walking along the streets. Such as "good morning," "howdy," "how do you do," "how you're feeling?" "hi," "top of the morning to you," "greetings" and a lot more. And Dick Hines has heard 'em all. But he was sort of flabbergasted the other day when he heard a new one—"How are you holding up?" And frankly, a person should be a little careful in making a reply. For instance, the other day a friend greeted another with "How you're feeling?" The reply was "I'm feeling very bad today," and thoughtlessly the other fellow said, "Well, that's good, I'm glad to hear it."

consideration for the rural, sparsely populated areas. "The same policies that work for the larger area's just don't apply in smaller areas and in smaller departments," he noted.

Chief W. C. Owens of the Elizabeth City Police Department, told the group the state needs "to do real meaningful things for our area."

In his remarks, Hoggard said he has a keen awareness of the needs on the local level and he has attempted to have policies set that bring consistency to available program.

W. B. Gardner, chairman of ARPDC and Edenton town administrator, remarked that the region should have a great deal of input into what is considered to be needed in the region. "We request you think it a little early for a new phase when you just announced. Phase 86 this morning?

Shultz: Well, that's not surprising when you consider the consumer price index went up 18 per cent between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning. We always try to react to stop inflation before it starts.

Q: Many people are complaining because the price of a dozen eggs has risen to $14.95. How do you react to that?

Shultz: There are always malcontents. Why don't these people remember how lucky they are to be living in a democracy with a free enterprise system, where all resources are tapped for the common good?

Q: Including telephones, Mr. Secretary?

Shultz: How else can we keep abreast of Russian manipulations of our commodities market than by monitoring the conversations of our brokers with their psychiatrists?

Q: Can you tell us how Phase 87 differs from Phase 86?

Shultz: It is one digit higher, for one thing. But I would point out that the phase numbers are not rising as fast as the general inflationary spiral. It's just another effort by President Nixon to keep a lid on economic pressures.

Q: Can you be little more specific, Mr. Secretary?

Shultz: Yes. The President has decided to get really tough with big business. Phase 87 slaps a 1 per cent profit limit on all manufacturers of buggy whips, hula hoops and spittoons. Once we get this crucial area of the economy under control, we can start thinking about thawing out the wage freeze we instituted back in Phase 45.

Q: What has President Nixon done to cut down?

Shultz: I'm glad you asked that question. The President has given up television. He no longer lights a fire in the fireplace when the air conditioner is running, and limousine service for his pooch, King Timahoe, between Camp David and the White House is being phased out. And Mrs. Nixon is again wearing her old cloth coat.

Q: Mr. Secretary, in view of the complexities of the economy, the supply and demand situation, the energy crisis and materials shortages, just how long will it take for us to get on top of things?

Shultz: God only knows.

Q: Wasn't he frozen back in Phase 64?

Shultz: Yes, but we are now concentrating on the other extreme. We expect to begin showing results sometime before hell freezes over. That'll be all for today.

Date Changed

The date for the public hearing in Elizabeth City on the Coastal Area Management Act has been changed from August 17 to August 21, according to Sen. William W. Stonor and Rep. Willis P. Whichard.

The date was changed because of a conflict with the N. C. Association of County Commissioners meeting August 16-19 at Pinehurst, according to Sen. Stonor.

"Input from local officials has been an important part of our hearings. We were afraid this conflict in dates would eliminate some of that input," he said.

The hearing in Elizabeth City will be at the Pasquotank County Courthouse and begin at 9 A.M. The next hearing on the bill will be August 20 at Dare County Courthouse at 9 A.M.

"We're getting a much better feel for what people think about this bill and I think we're eliminating some of the confusion about the bill," Rep. Whichard said.
