The bride was given in marriage by her father, N. Holmes Clare.

Her sister, Christina Palmer Clare, was the maid of honor and she was attended by the Misses Mary Gaillard, Cindy Jones, Nancy Meyer, Carol Sawyer, Phyllis Sawyer and Mrs. Edward B. Hutton, Jr., and Mrs. Gordon Strauss.

The groom's best man was his brother, Roger Williams Sawyer.

The groomsmen were Manley Applegate, Robert Chick, William Chick, N. Holmes Clare, Jr., Edward L. Cutter, III, A. Henry Edwards, Fred Kern, Malcolm Hirsh, Edward B. Hutton, Jr., Oliver Manice, David Mortimer, William Quinby, III, Bruce Sturgis, T. C. Tompkins and Thayer West, Jr.

The dress worn by the bride was of candlelight silk jersey with an underskirt of lace and pearls. She wore an 18th century heirloom veil of rosepoint lace and carried a lace fan to which were attached roses and lilies. The bridesmaids also wore candlelight silk jersey dresses and carried bouquets of fall wildflowers.

She studied one year at the Institute of American Universities and the University of Aix-Marseille in Aix-en-Provence. In her senior year in college Mrs. Sawyer worked with the mentally retarded and with the Denver courts as a volunteer probation officer.

The bride made her debut in 1967 in New York at a dinner dance given by her parents, and was a member of the Junior Assemblies of that year.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Buckland Sawyer, Jr., of Wellesley, Mass., and the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Buckland Sawyer of Beverly and Boston. His father was a vice president of Massachusetts Financial Services, and his paternal grandfather a trustee of the New Haven Railroad and the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and was treasurer of Stone and Webster.
