

Wildlife Chosen As Project

By BILL MANSFIELD

Wildlife is, creatures that are neither human nor domesticated; mammals, birds, and fish are classified as wildlife.

I chose wildlife as a project because I enjoy the outdoors and the animals within. This project teaches many different aspects in the field of wildlife; such as: the Ten Commandments of gun safety, who to keep records of different birds, how to cast tracks, and gives some ideas you would not think of. When I go hunting, I look for different animal homes.

I took a course in taxidermy which is the art of preserving animals, small and large; also heads, novelties, rugs and tanning hides.

Last year I had the pleasure of attending the National Resources Conference in Waynesville. In that week we studied the conservation of our natural resources; soil, minerals, forest, water and wildlife.

I have become a better person by digging deeper into this project. By becoming a better person, I have become aware of and respect others.

Council Names Area Leaders

Two Northeastern North Carolina men have been elected to offices with the N. C. Agribusiness Council, Inc.

Sen. J. J. Harrington of Lewiston, was elected vice president and George Kittrell Sr., of Corapeake, was elected to the board of directors.

Their election came at the council's annual meeting in Raleigh recently.

Former Gov. Bob Scott is the council's executive vice president and other officers are: chairman, J. Atwell Alexander, Alexander's Poultry Farms, Stony Point; president, Wayne Corpening, Wachovia Bank & Trust Company, Winston-Salem; secretary, Frank Bryant, Industry Wide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee, Boonville; and treasurer, Brantley DeLoatche, Central Carolina Farmers, Inc., Durham.

The Agribusiness Council is a non-profit organization formed in North Carolina in 1969. The council promotes North Carolina products and encourages business, industry, and agriculture to work as a partnership for the State's continued progress

SWINE SHOW HELD

The American Legion sponsored a Swine Show at the fair this year. The grand champion individual was shown by Ivey Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Ward of Ryland. The reserve champion individual was shown by Michael Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Perry, Route 3, Edenton.
