

County ASCS Office

Farmers who want to sign up for the 1974 wheat, feed grain or cotton programs will be able to do it by mail this year, according to W. T. Reece, state executive director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

In the past, farmers had to go to the county ASCS office to sign up in person, sometimes facing long lines. Bad weather often prevented farmers from getting to the county office and consequently, sign up sometimes had to be extended.

Another new feature this year, Reece said, is that sign up will be combined with certification. "The procedure is very simple," he said. Farmers wishing to participate in a program should call, write, or visit the county office as soon as possible after planting, for sign up and certification. After filling out and signing the forms, the farmer leaves them at the county office or mails them in as he prefers. "It's as simple as that," Reece said. Sign up begins with certification, that is, when the farmer certifies the acreages of crops he has planted. The final date for sign up will be determined by the State committee and will be announced later.

Participation in the three commodity programs has been simplified too, Reece said. There are no set-aside requirements, no restrictions on planting for the 1974 crop, and no conserving base requirements through the next four crop years, the duration of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, he said.

This means that under the 1974 program, farmers will be able to plant as many acres as they want of any crop except tobacco, peanuts and extra long staple (ELS) cotton, which are still under marketing quotas.

Farmers who sign up will be eligible for program payments should payments be required. Under the 1973 Act farmers are guaranteed a "target price." For corn it is $1.38 a bushel, for wheat, $2.05 a bushel, and $3.38 a pound for cotton. If the average price for these commodities fall below the target price, the producer receives the difference between the target price and the 5-month average price received by all farmers for wheat and feed grains and 12-month average price for cotton.

Chemical Companies To Continue Growth

The basic chemical industry will continue its capital spending boom in 1974, according to a recent survey conducted by Chemical & Engineering News, weekly newsmagazine of the American Chemical Society.

The survey predicts shortages of energy and other basic materials will not affect the chemical industry until after 1974.

GEN. DANIEL K. EDWARDS GEN. WILLIAM E. INGRAM

N-G Officers Promoted

RALEIGH—Two senior National Guard Officers were honored in special ceremonies at the N. C. National Guard Center last Wednesday. Maj. Gen. Daniel K. Edwards of Durham received a Special Certificate of Appreciation from the Office of the Army Chief of Staff, and Col. William E. Ingram of Elizabeth City was promoted to brigadier general.

This announcement was made by John J. Tolson, III, Secretary of the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs.

Gen. Edwards, who was cited for his work with the Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee by the Army Chief of Staff, was presented his certificate by Major General William H. Blakefield, Commander of Army Readiness Region Three, Ft. Meade, Md.

Gen. Edwards is a native of Durham where he now resides with his wife. He is a former mayor of the city and belongs to several civic, legal and veterans organizations. He is senior partner in the law firm of Edwards and Manson.

Gen. Ingram, a native of Richmond, Va., was graduated from Elizabeth City High School in 1939 and from The Citadel in Charleston, S. C., in 1943. He is a former mayor of Elizabeth City, where he now resides with his wife. He is the president of an oil distributorship.

After graduation from the Citadel, Gen. Ingram was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army in 1943. A year later he was sent to the European Theater of Operations for duty. He received the Silver Star, Combat Infantryman Badge and European-African-Middle Eastern Campaign Ribbon for his service during World War II.

Following release from active duty in August, 1946, Gen. Ingram became a member of the Officer Reserve Corps. He was appointed a captain in the N. C. National Guard in April, 1947, and served as commanding officer of the 119th Infantry in Elizabeth City.

During subsequent years he served as a battalion commander, operations and training officer, Chief of Staff of the 30th Infantry Division, Commander of the First Brigade, 30th Division and Commanding Officer of the 139th Support Center (Rear Area Operations). He was promoted to the rank of colonel in October, 1966.

Gen. Ingram has attended various Army service schools, including Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Day of Prayer Program Is Set

Church Women United in Edenton will celebrate World Day of Prayer Friday at 4 P.M. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Church Women United in thousands of local communities, in every state, will unite in prayers for "peace building" with women in 168 lands on this 88th World Day of Prayer.

The story of World Day of Prayer began in 1887 with a small group of women who firmly believed that the mission work for which they were responsible needed their support in prayer as much as in giving. Today, this annual event on the first Friday of March has developed into a truly ecumenical and international celebration and is significant in that its roots are based in thousands of local communities.

World Day of Prayer in the U. S. is the most widely observed ecumenical celebration sponsored by Church Women United, Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic women this year will mobilize around their intention to be "builders of peace" by channeling their energies into effective acts of reconciliation in their local communities.

Heart Attacks Can Be Avoided

A heart attack is often described as "sudden." Yet, there are no sudden heart attacks—only those that seem to happen suddenly.

A stroke is referred to medically as a "cerebrovascular accident." It's not an accident in human terms. Underlying causes build over the years.

Both have their roots in basic risk factors; high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol and excess cigarette smoking. Others include heredity, a lack of exercise, a diet high in saturated fats and cholesterol, and obesity.

"Some risk factors can be avoided by an alteration of lifestyle," says Gil Johnson president of Chowan County Heart Association. "Others can be minimized by an awareness of them. But equally important, we should know and heed the early warning signs that often precede a heart attack or stroke."

Johnson, listed the warning signs, published in literature and other material supplied as a result of Heart Fund contributions. They are:

Heart attack: Prolonged, oppressive pain or unusual discomfort in the center of the chest, behind the breastbone; pain may radiate to the shoulder, arm, neck or jaw; pain or discomfort is often accompanied by sweating; nausea, vomiting and shortness of breath. Sometimes these symptoms subside and then return.

Stroke: Sudden temporary weakness or numbness of the face, arm or leg; temporary difficulty or loss of speech, or

Stevens Announces Candidacy

State Rep. William E. Stevens of Lenoir Monday announced his candidacy for the U. S. Senate at press conferences held in Raleigh, Charlotte and Asheville.

The 52-year-old Republican businessman also announced his resignation from the General Assembly, effective immediately.

Stevens tendered his resignation on Monday morning to the Speaker of the House, James Ramsey. "I have found just this week," said Stevens, "in wrestling with the decision of whether to run for the U. S. Senate or not, that I could not serve two masters at one time."

It made me realized that I would not be a good legislator while campaigning for the U. S. Senate.

In announcing as a candidate, Stevens said:

"Today, America is beset with some of the most perplexing problems this country has ever faced in peacetime. In my opinion, some of the most serious ills besetting America today are primarily economic ills. They are problems that require level-headed businesslike solutions."

Stevens is executive vice president of Broyhill Industries, one of the leading producers of furniture in the United States, with employment of over 6,000.

He has also served as president of the N. C. Citizens Association, a statewide organization of businessmen dedicated to sound fiscal policies in government.

Stevens started his campaign by saying, "A Republican running for statewide office in North Carolina needs a lot of help—help from his own party and help from Democrats, even in the primary."
