Statement Is Released

WILMINGTON—The Wilmington District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has published a draft environmental impact statement of the effects of channel excavation on 2.3 miles of Scuppernon River, in Washington and 1.8 miles of Mauls Creek, a tributary of Scuppernon River, in Washington County, near the towns of Creswell and Cherry and Lake Phelps, and has asked government agencies, special interest groups, and individuals to comment on it.

The proposed project consists of clearing right-of-way for, and constructing a two-mile-long channel along Scuppernon River from Creswell to Mauls Creek with a bottom width of 70 feet and average depth of about 11 feet. The 0.3-mile-long channel from Mauls Creek to Cherry would have a bottom width of 60 feet and an average depth of about 8 feet. The 1.8-mile-long channel on Mauls Creek would have a 45-foot-wide bottom width and an average depth of about seven feet.

The entire project has been previously excavated. Local interests will renovate small auxiliary channels and ditches in conjunction with the project. The banks will be seeded to prevent erosion and improve appearance.

The placement of excavated material would be in such a manner as to leave intermittent openings to assure minimal adverse effects on wildlife resources, and surface inlet pipes would be provided under the excavated material in areas where it is impractical to leave openings. This procedure will permit continued swamp flooding to occur after project construction. Construction time for the $554,000 project is expected to take about nine months beginning sometime after May and continuing to before or not later than April of the following year.

All work will conform to the State of North Carolina's pollution control regulations and the Corps of Engineers' construction guide specifications for environmental protection to keep pollution of all types to a minimum.

The Wilmington District seeks comments from now until May from some 30 federal, state and local agencies, conservation groups, and all interested persons. After all the solicited remarks are reviewed, the text will be revised and the final statement filed with the Council on Environmental Quality in Washington, D.C.

Single copies of the Scuppernon River Flood control project draft environmental impact statement are available from the Wilmington District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, P. O. Box 1890, Wilmington, N.C. 28401.

Man Charged In Shooting

James Lester Copeland, 30-year-old Negro, Route 1, Tyner, has been charged with a felony after Edenton Police Department investigated a shooting Thursday night on West Albemarle Street.

Police Chief J. D. Parrish reports that James M. Riddick, Jr., was shot in the neck during an incident reported at 11:43 P. M. Thursday in the mobile home occupied by Sam Copeland. Riddick was admitted to Chowan Hospital.

Police reports indicate Riddick was shot with a .38 caliber pistol which had been fired twice. The victim allegedly had a .22 caliber pistol containing one empty round.

Copeland has been released on bond and a preliminary cause hearing has been set for April 8 in Chowan County District Court.
