GUEST SPEAKER—Howard Kramer of the N. C. Attorney General's office was the keynote speaker at the annual Chowan County Law Enforcement Officers Appreciation banquet last Thursday night. The banquet was sponsored by the American Legion.

Immanuel Trojans Beat Crusaders With 40-0 Score

On Friday, the Immanuel Christian School Trojans of Edenton traveled to Elizabeth City and handed the Emmanuel Christian School Crusaders a 40-0 defeat.

The Trojan defense dominated the game from the start, and their offense scored almost at will. By the end of the first half Immanuel's offense had accumulated 22 points, while their defense had held the Crusaders scoreless.

In the second half, Immanuel continued the onslaught by taking another 18 points away from the demoralized Crusaders defense. Once again in this half the Trojans played good solid defense, and managed to hold their opposition scoreless; for their second shut-out in six games.

The whole Trojan team played a good basic football game, but the actual scorers were: Barry Leary with three touchdowns, David Rollins with two touchdowns and a two point conversion, Ricky Browder with a touchdown and Andrew Rouse with a two point conversion.

Lions' White Cane Drive Set

The Edenton Lions Club is conducting its Annual Lions White Cane Drive during October and November. Lion West Leary, the local White Cane Chairman, states that funds raised during this Drive support the programs of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.

Lion Leary is optimistic that the community will support the White Cane Drive this year as it has in the past. He expresses the appreciation on behalf of all members of the Edenton Lions Club for past community support.

The N. C. Lions Association for the Blind is a non-profit organization, organized in 1934 to establish a state agency for the blind that would administer all federal and state programs relating to blind and visually handicapped citizens. Since this action was accomplished in 1935, the N. C. Lions Association for the Blind has continued to support and cooperate with the State agency.

In 1966, a central office was established in Raleigh to administer and coordinate all services supported by the association for the blind and visually handicapped. One of the services supported is the N. C. Eye and Human Tissue Bank, located in Winston-Salem. This organization serves as a clearing house for all Eye Wills and requests for eyes, and well as other human organs. Over 120,000 Eye Wills are on file.

Camp Dogwood is a camp and vacation spot for the blind and visually handicapped people of North Carolina, located on the shores of Lake Norman in Catawba County. The facility, representing an investment of about a half million dollars, provided camping opportunities this year for 450 blind or visually handicapped people. The main support for this project is provided by the N. C. Lions Association for the Blind.

A scholarship program sponsored by the association for children of blind parents is currently providing assistance to 21 youths in North Carolina Universities, colleges and technical schools.

Radios and white canes are provided by the Association to any blind person in need of one.

Glaucoma-Diabetes detection clinics, research and public education are services sponsored jointly with other agencies by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.

Lion Leary points out that contributions to the White Cane Drive are tax deductible. A contribution of $5 of more entitles an individual to voting membership in the association and includes a subscription to association publications.

Methodist Church Holds Conference

A church conference will be held at Edenton United Methodist Church at 7:30 P.M. Sunday. Rev. E. L. Earnhardt, pastor, says every member is expected to attend.

The conference will follow a fellowship supper which begins at 6:30 P.M.

At the 11 A. M. worship service the pastor has chosen "Love's Longing" as his topic. The text is Psalm 119: 17-20.

Folk Festival Fair Hit

RALEIGH—The 29th Folk Festival, annually a big part of the State Fair entertainment package, continues its new look for the 1976 event through Saturday.

The three performances daily, 11, 2 and 5 take place in an 80-foot Charter-Sphere, located adjacent to Dorton Arena.

Cash prizes in 25 categories await winners chosen from the more than 500 singers, dancers and musicians who annually compete in the popular event.

A group of performers will also entertain at Capitol Square downtown from noon to 1 P. M. Monday through Friday.

Musicians who enter the festival will receive points toward their final score for effectiveness, entertainment appeal, folk value of the selection, grace and manner of execution, skill, voice and harmony.

Dancers will compete in colg and smooth dancing in junior, senior and adult categories. Junior and senior entrants will also display their international folk dancing knowledge.

Other categories open for competition include gospel singing groups; blue grass, country and western, and string bands; individual banjoists, guitarists and fiddlers; individual ballad singers; individual cloggers; novelty numbers and mandolin performers. The Folk Festival was initiated in the 1948 to encourage and foster efforts among Tar Heel citizens to preserve and develop the state's rich heritage of folk music and dance.

Wachovia Donates

GREENVILLE—The fund drive to expand Ficklen Stadium at East Carolina University has received a $25,000 contribution from the Wachovia Foundation.

Wally Howard of Greenville, regional executive for Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., announced the Wachovia gift in ceremonies attended by ECU Chancellor Leo W. Jenkins, a leader in the stadium fund drive, and other officials. The drive to raise $2.5-million to enable ECU to nearly double the seating size and improve facilities at Ficklen began about two weeks ago.

Howard said there is a "pleasing and harmonious" relationship between the Wachovia organization and East Carolina.

"This gift is part of our continuous effort to support East Carolina University which means so much to the Eastern region and the entire state," he said.

Jenkins said the gift was one of the largest, single contributions to the stadium fund drive received thus far.

SUCCESS.....with Perdue

Everett Davenport of Creswell, North Carolina has developed an integrated farming operation. On his 500 acre farm, 100 acres is pasture for his cattle. Corn and soybeans are grown on the other 400 acres. For the past eleven years, Everett has owned and operated a grainery. This year, the Davenports decided to further integrate their operation with chickens. They already have two Perdue broiler houses and they're building two more. Betty Jo and Everett Davenport have found that growing with Perdue is a successful way to diversify their farming income.

Call Perdue... and find out how raising chickens can help you diversify your income.
