

Mrs. Vaughan Heads Local Fund Raising

Mrs. Peggy Anne Vaughan is heading up the campaign in Chowan County to raise funds for the completion of construction of the new N.C. Museum of Art. The new museum is presently under construction thanks to a $10.75-million appropriation from the General Assembly. Letters soliciting funds were mailed this week and Mrs. Vaughan looks for a good response.

Though $5-million is needed by the overall Campaign Fund of the museum of art, the N.C. Art Society, the supportive arm of the state art museum, has taken on the goal of raising $1-million.

"The museum of art, as a state supported institution, benefits every citizen of our state in direct and indirect ways," she said.

"The new museum will be on a west Raleigh site near I-40. As a tourist attraction, it will help draw high-income tourists to the major east-west corridor of the state.

"In addition, because the new museum will be about 50 miles northeast of the state's geographic and populous center, it will be much more convenient for all North Carolinians to visit."

A target amount was based on the percentage of people in the county earning more than $15,000, Mrs. Vaughan said. "But it is money that will come back to us many times as our college educated children find the museum one more reason to stay in North Carolina," she added. "For when the new museum is a reality, it will be one more statistic in the quality-of-life indicators.

"Not only that, it will be a full fledged museum which all of us can enjoy."

Mrs. Humphrey To Study Victorian Era

Ava Garrett Humphrey, site manager of Historic Edenton, Inc. has received a scholarship to attend the first annual Victorian Society Summer School in Boston from July 9-29.

The three-week seminar will concentrate on 19th Century American architecture, social and urban history, the decorative arts of the Victorian era and the preservation of architecture and culture of the 19th Century in America. There will be lectures by prominent scholars and professionals on various aspects of Victorian architecture and history in conjunction with tours of relevant areas and buildings in the Boston vicinity.

Mrs. Humphrey was the recipient of a scholarship to the Victorian Society Summer School in London last year. It is her hope that her experiences as site manager for Historic Edenton, the summer school last year and the Boston course will help her knowledge and understanding of the Victorian architecture and history of the Edenton-Chowan area.

Over half the buildings surveyed by the Archives and History Survey team in Edenton are Victorian.

Carolina Review

Speight vs. Carlton...The split between state ABC Board Chairman Marvin Speight, Jr., and Crime Control Secretary Phil Carlton widened last week with reports that Alcohol Law Enforcement agents under Carlton had attended a meeting to which they were not formally invited and secretly taped Speight's remarks.

Speight was addressing the annual meeting of the N.C. County and Municipal ABC Law Enforcement Association at Nags Head. The subject was his recent trip to Virginia to study liquor-by-the-drink regulations in that state.

Thomas Parker, assistant ALE director, taped the remarks at an afternoon session but returned the tape to association officials after they had confronted his immediate superior, Director John Brooks, and demanded the recording.

Parker maintains that the taping was done in the open (on the floor by his seat) and that the tape was to be used only as reference in developing plans for enforcement policies of ABC Board decisions.

Since the meeting was hardly top-secret, Parker's story seems feasible.

But Gov. Hunt was pulled into the controversy and probably helped to further it by his statement when asked about the "secret taping."

Hunt, faced with the public's abhorrence of electronic eavesdropping since the Watergate mess, issued a strong condemnation of taping and questioned the presence of the agents.

Finally, however, after personal assurances by Carlton to the governor and the press that the incident was not that significant, the flare-up seemed over for the moment.

Christian Schools Balk...At least 62 church-related Christian schools have joined in yet another confrontation with the state over what the churches believe to be more violation of their freedom of religion.

The schools are refusing to pay their first-quarter unemployment insurance taxes to the state in protest over a new federal ruling that, for the first time, requires church-related schools to pay a state unemployment insurance tax like any other business.

The school officials maintain that their schools should receive the same tax-exempt status as their churches do, because the schools are part of the churches' ministry.

Many of the same schools are already in court over failure to comply with state education guidelines.

That hearing is to begin in Raleigh on July 24.

More Little and Paul...Joan Little and her lawyer, Jerry Paul, were in the news again last week.

Little has been indicted by a Wake County grand jury on charges of escaping from Women's Prison in Raleigh last October.

Little pleaded not guilty to the charge.

She is being defended by Paul who is himself involved in court litigation with the N.C. Bar Association over charges of misconduct in his successful defense of Little during her celebrated murder trial of 1975.

Patrol vs. Indians...The N.C. Highway Patrol was on the hot seat again last week concerning alleged brutality to Indians in Robeson County.

Indian leaders have charged that in the past year there have been at least five incidents in which Lumbee Indians have been so severely beaten by patrolmen that they required medical treatment or hospitalization.

Secretary of Crime Control and Public Safety Phil Carlton, has agreed to meet with a committee representing the Indians to study the charges. He has also re-opened the investigation of the latest brutality incident.

PICNIC MORNING

Happiness is a picnic morning. Happiness is a day spent with the family. Happiness is walking and talking and sharing the fun and beauty of God's world with those you love.

A picnic is always a happy idea. Somehow, just getting away from the daily routine does wonders. The sound of a cool waterfall, the rustle of a bird on the wing, the warmth of a friendly sun: all of it makes you "come alive" with a new kind of freshness.

There is another place where we all may renew our strength for the times we live in. The atmosphere, fellowship, and inspirational teachings of your church will do much to keep you walking happy. Spend next Sunday morning in church.

THE CHURCH AND CIVIL AUTHORITIES

International Sunday School Lesson

Scripture: Romans 13:1-10
By Mrs. Jesse Waller

When I become discouraged, and feel like I'm standing still in my spiritual life, there is a picture to which I turn. The picture is entitled "The Last Prayer." The coliseum in Rome is packed with people. The King and Queen have just taken their places, above the hungry lions. There is a small band of Christians, of different ages, huddled in the center of the arena, kneeling in prayer. The lions have been loosed, and are starting toward the Christians to tear them apart.

Human authority is corrupted easily. When this happens, those in authority feel no responsibility to God. There have been power-mad Kings and dictators who have frequently been the worst enemies of the church. We must remember that Jesus did not live in a democratic society, and yet he did submit to government taxes. In fact, when he was born, his parents were in Bethlehem, the place of their birth, to pay taxes. He encouraged the people to render unto the ruler his dues, and unto God the things that belonged to Him.

The Christians ran into real conflict under a totalitarian regime, which went on to emperor worship. Because they wished to please God, and obey Him, rather than men, many of them were imprisoned and beheaded and burned at the stake. The believer's ultimate responsibility is to God, not to political or military power. He has a two fold responsibility, first to please and obey God, and to be able to live with his own conscience. "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." Romans 12:19.

Paul, in writing to the Christians tells them to do good, then they will have no fear of civil authority. Even so, he was imprisoned a number of times because they commanded him not to preach, and he kept preaching and winning converts to Christ.

To be subject to civil authority does not mean one has to approve or agree with everything his government does. In our Democratic society, we have the privilege of openly expressing our opinion. This is a great freedom the Christian neglects.

In the final analysis the debt of love summarizes the Christian's duty. Think what a transformation would take place in our country, in our world, if we approved politics in the spirit of love. If we sought good for our neighbor, instead of trying to out smart them, or out sell them, or lord it over them in any way, if love had the last word, the kind of love our Lord exemplified, there would be order and harmony in society. Obedience gives concrete expression to love.

Closing thought: Love makes any load lighter.

Little Stories about GREAT HYMNS

"ALL THE WAY MY SAVIOUR LEADS ME"
Fanny J. Crosby

"All the way my Saviour leads me;
What have I to ask beside?
Can I doubt His tender mercy
Who thro' life has been my Guide?
Heav'nly peace, divinest comfort,
Here by faith in Him to dwell!
For I know what'er befall me,
Jesus doeth all things well."

"Desperately in need of five dollars, Fanny J. Crosby, the blind hymn writer, prayed to God and, in answer to her prayer, a gentleman called at her home. He shook her hand, greeted her and departed. After he left, she discovered a five-dollar bill in her hand. Her first thought was how wonderfully God had helped her. She immediately sat down and wrote the above hymn."
