

Carolina Review By Jerry Mobley

General Assembly...The General Assembly convenes this week in Raleigh amid rising speculation over the pros and cons of tax relief for North Carolinians.

The first three days (Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday) of the session, however, will be a general feeling-out process. The usual chaos is bound to occur as new members try to get moved in and many old members try to get relocated. Much like returning college students in the fall.

About the only formal activity to take place is the swearing in of new members and officers as well as the appointment of committee members. A lot of pre-filed bills will also be introduced.

Most of the real activity won't begin until Gov. Hunt has given his State of the State address next Monday evening. It will be televised from the chambers of the House of Representatives.

Hunt Activity (Crime)...Gov. Hunt, for his part, has virtually wrapped up preparation for the State of the State address. It reportedly will center around economic progress made in the past year, especially in industrial development.

Last week, the governor spent much of his time working on a "crime package" to be introduced to the legislature later in the month. He certainly had plenty of material to draw from since just resigned Secretary of Crime Control Phil Carlton (and just appointed Appeals Court judge) recently presented to Hunt a crime report. The report was compiled by he and his staff and members of Governor's Crime Commission.

Crime Report...The 562-page volume included agendas, studies, descriptions, graphs, statistics, and most important, recommendations. The studies and recommendations range over the entire criminal spectrum — victims of crime, alcohol and drugs, law enforcement, courts, public safety, highway safety, crime prevention, family violence, juvenile justice, corrections, and future planning.

Hopefully, this impressive compilation of information can be put to good use by Gov. Hunt and the legislature — as well as by law enforcement, judicial, and correction officials.

Another Volume...Another book to receive attention last week was the collection of addresses and papers of former Gov. Jim Holshouser.

The book, which is prepared at state expense after every governor's term expires, has been printed and is now in the hands of the Department of Cultural Resources. But apparently they are holding on to the book until Gov. Hunt tells them who he wants to have one.

tedly 2,500 printed. Which goes to show that no matter how much harder you try, sometimes number two just can't win.

PCB...The PCB story continues to sound like an old-time serial movie with no ending.

Opposition to a proposed permanent dumping site in Warren County gained great momentum last week and there is now very little chance of leaving the PCB in Warren.

Much of the dangerous chemical, however, is already in Warren and it would seem to be the logical place if a safe site could be located. But unfortunately for weary environmental officials, a public hearing in Warrenton last week was packed with opponents and lasted until 3 A.M. Yet who can blame the residents of Warren County?

The only reasonable alternative now, it seems, is for the federal government to step in with enough money and resources to transport the mess to a dumping site already in operation and approved by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Transporting it to the nearest site, in Alabama, will require millions of dollars and a special, secured train.

Letter To Editor

My compliments to the Editor for his stand on the traffic situation at the South Broad-Water Street intersection (Time for Changes, 1-4-79).

The South Broad-Water Street intersection is marked in a most unusual way, in that it is a 4-way intersection with 3-way stop signs, giving sole priority to southbound traffic. Thus U-turns, since they are permitted here, take priority over all other traffic! This is bad enough for drivers familiar with the area; but it can be an unpleasant and dangerous experience for visitors, who make up a large percentage of the northbound traffic at this intersection. The maneuver is a complete surprise to visiting drivers, since a U-turn at an intersection is illegal just about everywhere.

The U-turn privilege at Broad and Water should be eliminated. By continuing south just a short distance, a legitimate U-turn may be made. And by removing the north-bound stop sign, the flow of traffic would be orderly and in accord with accepted practices.

Alan Alda

Alda To Speak On Equal Rights

The First District Coalition of North Carolinians United for Equal Rights Amendment are sponsoring a Fund Raiser on January 20 featuring the appearance of Alan Alda, star of M.A.S.H.

The coalition hopes that the appearance of Alda, who has worked very actively for the ratification of this amendment, will help to convince many of the public that the horrors they fear will come to be if this amendment is ratified will not happen.

Tickets for the "Coffee and Dessert with Alan Alda" are $5 and have to be purchased in advance of January 20.

The patron tickets, which include dinner with Alda at the home of George and Winnie Wood of Camden are $25 per person and also include the "Coffee and Dessert". These can be purchased by calling Mrs. Marginette Lassiter after 6 P.M. at 482-2845.
