

Art Classes To Begin

As of March 1, part of the attic of the Shepard-Pruden Library will become an informal teaching art studio for Mrs. Carol E. Sick, a local artist and wife of Dr. Lonnie V. Sick.

A member of the Chowan Arts Council, Mrs. Sick has organized continuing weekly classes for adults and youngsters in a series of six media from basic pencil drawing to oil painting. The artist, whose own style is "realistic", would like for her beginning students to learn to paint as she did, in the traditional manner, by studying proportion, light, and detail in dry media for a good length of time, before attempting the use of the wet color media. "This is an old-fashioned way to teach art," she says, "but I think it is still the best. A personal style can't be developed well before the basics become second nature."

Mrs. Sick's training in art includes nine years of private lessons in Burlington, and several courses in the art department at U.N.C. at Chapel Hill. Since 1971 she has been a hobbyist painter, and has won several awards in recent local exhibits. At the 1978 Peanut Festival Arts and Crafts Show and Sale, she was awarded best in

Methodist Topic

All members and friends of the Edenton United Methodist Church are invited to a "Hunger Fund" Pancake Supper at the church, 5:30 P.M., Sunday. A brief, special program will be presented by Mrs. Doris A. Litchfield, Chairperson on Missions.

All members of the church are urged to participate in the Hunger Fund appeal during Lent.

Only one variety of mushroom is grown commercially in the U.S. It can range from dark brown to pure white. Differences are negligible, but the darker ones are firmer, better for skewering, less easily bruised and—some believe—more flavorful.

A CARD OF THANKS

The family of Elizabeth Nixon Watson wish to thank their many relatives and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy shown by words of consolation, cards, telegrams, flowers, food and prayers during their bereavement. We would like to give thanks to the staff of Blair Funeral Home for their efficient services rendered.

We ask God's blessing on each and every one.

The artist hopes that classes will bring out not only more interest in the fine arts, but also in the less obvious "ordinary beauty" in the area. "We have a lot of good material in this part of the country," she feels. "The landscape artist could be as familiar a sight here as the quaint roadside scene."

Mrs. Sick will offer still-life, portrait, and nature subjects to her students with occasional field trips to reach them.

Prospective students should contact the artist for schedules and particulars. New students will be taken at any time during the year.

Methodist Doings

Edenton United Methodist Church will welcome Rev. Lawrence E. Lugar of the Ahoskie United Methodist Church as guest speaker at their morning worship service at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The sermon topic chose by Mr. Lugar is: "Ol LeRoy Cole - 'Laid Aside'." The Scripture lesson is Acts 6:1-15.

Rev. Richard R. Blankenhorn, pastor of the Edenton United Methodist Church, will fulfill a similar guest speaking assignment at Mt. Olive United Methodist Church at Manteo.

These assignments will be taking place throughout the N.C. Conference as a part of an effort to interpret the pension needs of the ministers of the Conference. The 539 United Methodist Charges of the N.C. Conference are seeking to underwrite the necessary funding for a three million dollar Crusade for Pensions.

The success of this Crusade will enable continued support of those already retired and help provide benefits for those who will retire in future years. March 25th has been designated as Pension Crusade Sunday. On this day N.C. United Methodists will have the opportunity to underwrite their local church's share of the $3-million three year goal.
