4-H Congress Notes

By Debbie Jordan

North Carolina 4-H Club Congress passed quickly for the eleven 4-H'ers and six adults who participated in the five day event. One of the highlights for Chowan County was the announcement that Eliot Atstupenas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Atstupenas, was the state winner in his wildlife demonstration.

In Eliot's demonstration, "Edenton's Piece of the Rock", he described the Edenton National Fish Hatchery and explained how striped bass are raised. Eliot's father, the manager of the hatchery, assisted him in preparing his demonstration.

Joseph Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodwin, Jr. was runner-up in the Automotive Skill Driving Contest. Joseph has a good record as a driver and has participated in this contest for two years. Last year Joseph was awarded the leadership pin at the Achievement Program.

Debbie Jordan, district secretary and Al Ward, a past district officer and current 4-H leader, traveled to Raleigh a day early to help make final preparations for the week.

Delegates Eliot Atstupenas, Gene Baker, Greg Brabble, Anna Goodwin, Joseph Goodwin, Sandra Coston, David Jordan, Maurice Jordan, Leon Rouson, and Paul Stallings along with leaders Mrs. Lin Jordan, Mrs. Rita Atstupenas, and Mrs. Wallace Goodwin arrived Monday afternoon with agents, Murray Goodwin and Theresa Ford. Clifton Hall, the only delegate from Bertie County joined with the Chowan delegation. Monday night began with the flag ceremony where county, district and state council flags were carried in. The visual newsletter, a computerized slide show, showed the 4-H'ers how the state council had prepared Congress.

The week was dedicated to Fred Wagoner, the newly retired camp specialist. Mr. Wagoner is responsible for the beautiful Betsy-Jeff Penn Camp located in Reidsville. During the Honor Club Tapping Ceremony, Bob Jordan joined the ranks of the select few who are allowed to join the 4-H Honor Club.

Tuesday was devoted to state demonstration contests. Besides Eliot and Joseph there were several demonstrations presented by Chowan County 4-H'ers. They were: Gene Baker, Forestry; Anna Goodwin, Pork Cookery; Maurice Jordan, American Business System; and Leon Rouson, Senior Public Speaking. Clifton Hall also demonstrated in Horticultural Production. That evening Eliot and Joseph were recognized for their performance along with Joseph Goodwin and Debbie Jordan, state project winners. Joseph and Debbie will travel to National Congress in November.

The visual newsletter showed slides of the activities in which 4-H'ers had participated in Monday. This program continued each night of the entire week.

A new dimension to Congress was the carnival, a gala affair, in which certain counties set up booths such as "Hit the Bullseye" and "Bust the Ballon". Everyone had a great time.

Wednesday morning Governor Hunt urged each 4-H'er to help make North Carolina self-sufficient energy wise. That evening the best garments in the state were modeled in the State Dress Revue. The theme "Disco is Everywhere" was carried out through the show.

White Receives Certification

Recently Mr. R. Graham White was certified as an American Forestry Institute tree farmer by Chowan County Forest Ranger Roger Spivey.

As a nationwide organization, the American Tree Farm System has over 34,000 certified tree farms and involves 72-million acres of woodland. It recognizes landowners who are doing a good job of managing their timberlands. Mr. White's woodland, which is located at Holiday Isle in Perquimans County, has been under professional forest management since 1953. Mr. White has received forest management assistance from the N. C. Forest Service, wood industrial foresters and private consulting foresters. Many management plans have been prepared and revised for this tract of 750 acres. By following the recommendations proposed Mr. White has been able to produce and maintain a well stocked forest stand of fast growing tree. Over the years trees on his land have been harvested and the cutover areas have been reseeded back to the preferred species, loblolly pine. This type of concerned interest in forest land benefits both present and future generations.

Mr. White has become one of over 3,400 certified tree farmers in North Carolina that are properly managing their timberlands in accordance with their own specific objectives. The Tree Farm signs which can be seen displayed along state roads are a mark of responsible woodland owners having their land under professional forest management.

In 16th century Italy, where poisoning of enemies was a fine art, a finely powdered diamond mixed with other food was thought to be a deadly potion. Less expensive gems could not be substituted.

There's still no substitute for diamonds for brilliance and beauty. Find YOUR diamond in our selection. We can re-mount your gems in modern settings.

Three ways you can slow it down this summer.

Summer, when all the air conditioners are humming, is the time when our customers use more power than at any other time of year. To meet the demand this summer, you can be sure that we'll be doing everything we can to provide you with all the power you need. We'll be using our available units to capacity, and if necessary, we'll be buying power from our neighboring utilities.

If you pitch in by following the steps below, you can help us make it through the summer.

1. Don't overcool your home. Set your home air conditioner's thermostat at 78° or higher, or not more than 15° cooler than the temperature outside, whichever is the higher setting.

For every degree cooler than 78°, your air conditioner uses about 5% more energy. So a 73° setting means you're using 25% more energy than you would at a 78° setting.

By watching your thermostat, you'll save energy at a time when it's most important.

And you'll save money, too.
2. Do the big jobs early. Or late. We call it Hot Watch. The hours between 10 A.M. and 10 P.M. are the "peak load" hours, when the most electricity is being used and the chance of shortages is greatest.

So try to restrict your use of major appliances and hot water during these hours.

Do your baking and laundry before 10 A.M. Turn on the dishwasher just before you go to bed. Shower before 10 A.M. or after 10 P.M.

You won't be using less energy, but you'll be using it when we have power to spare. And that will reduce our need to build costly power plants.

3. Give your water heater a rest. It will save money and energy. With the exception of heating and cooling systems, the water heater is the biggest energy user in your home. So try your best to work it less.

Use your dishwasher and washing machine only for full loads. Wash clothes in cool or warm water instead of hot. Take showers instead of baths, and keep them short.

With your help we can save energy and make it through the summer. And that's important to all of us.
