Harrell Is Re-Elected; Voting Heavy

Voters in Edenton re-elected Roy L. Harrell to a fourth term as mayor by a 278 vote margin over J. D. Elliott, a former town councilman, in Tuesday's municipal election. Board of Elections chairman E. N. Manning stated, after talking with Mayor Harrell, that it may have been one of the largest voter turnouts for a municipal election in the history of Edenton.

Joe Lee, who in 1977 unsuccessfully bid for a town council seat, won out over write-in candidate Maggie Dail for the office of town treasurer. Former second ward councilman Allen Hornthal defeated a newcomer, James L. Fenner for the councilman-at-large post, and Steve Hampton, in his first bid also, defeated Russell Wheeler for second ward councilman.

W. H. Hollowell, Jr. ran unopposed in the First Ward and polled a total of 312 votes.

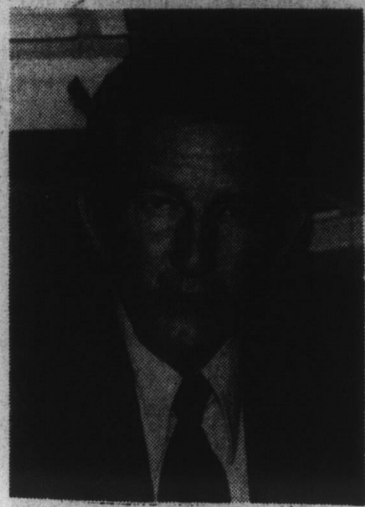

Manning reported that unofficially there were 1,642 votes cast, or 63 per cent of approximately 2,600 registered voters. East Edenton cast an overall total of 854 votes compared to West Edenton's 742. There were 46 absentee ballots.

While Joe Lee took the treasurer's post with 708 votes, Maggie Dail made an impressive showing with 630 write-ins. In the councilman-at-large race Hornthal slipped by Fenner 792 to 766 for a 26 vote margin. In the second ward, Hampton polled 330 votes to Wheeler's 202, winning the council seat by 128 ballots.

This year's mayoral race saw Harrell returned to office by nearly the same margin noted in the 1977 election when he was

How They Voted

Chowan County's legislative delegation in the N. C. General Assembly rated moderately conservative in the Senate but moderate to liberal in the House according to the Legislative Rating released by the North Carolina Conservation Union (NCCU).

The rating was released by NCCU Chairman Hugh J. Beard, Jr. The N. C. Conservative Union is a bi-partisan organization that supports the principles of "free enterprise, individual liberty, limited government, and family integrity." It is affiliated with the American Conservative Union, the nation's oldest and largest conservative organization.

Based on a scale of 0 to 100, with 0 representing the most liberal position and 100 the most conservative, Sen. J.J. (Monk) Harrington received a score of 60 and Sen. Melvin Daniels received a 58. On the House side, however, Rep. Vernon James scored a 50 while Rep. Charles Evans was the low man in the delegation with a 29.

announcing his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Congress from the First District on November 12, 13, 14 and 15. This will be done by announcing from the courthouse steps in each of the 21 counties of the First Congressional District.

Hollowell is married and has three children, Joseph, Mark, and Kerry Lynn.

Hollowell is active in the Edenton Baptist Church and serves as a Sunday School teacher. A past state president of the N. C. Jaycees in 1976-1977, Hollowell is seeking the seat held by Democrat U. S. Rep. Walter B. Jones.

He plans to announce his candidacy in Chowan County Tuesday, at 8:30 A.M. in front of the historic Chowan County Courthouse.

Update On River Clean-Up Expected

The chairmen of county boards of commissioners in the 12-county Albemarle Sound Basin will be given an update on efforts to clean up the Chowan River at a meeting to be called by Chairman C. A. Phillips of Chowan County. The meeting was authorized Monday by the local board.

At the same time, commissioners approved a resolution lauding Sec. Howard N. Lee of the State Department of Natural Resources & Community Development for his efforts in developing the Chowan River Restoration Project.

Phillips said he was "very pleased" with the public meeting recently. Also, he said he was pleased with the "very forceful" approach being taken by Sec. Lee. "This is very satisfying," he added.

"I believe we are in the best position we have been in thus far," he said.

J. D. Peele added: "I feel like now we are going to see something accomplished."

Chairman Phillips commended Sheriff Troy Toppin for his department's efforts to clean up marijuana in the county. "You do a mighty good job with limited personnel," he said.

Sheriff Toppin said last week's activity resulted from three anonymous calls. "This shows we have people in the community who are concerned and are willing to cooperate," he said.

Commissioners will ask the Division of Archives & History in Raleigh to change direction regarding a new roof for the historic Chowan County Courthouse. The board has $20,000 budgeted for the job and has a $20,000 state grant. However, they have been unable to obtain a contractor interested in doing the job.

The roof specified is a heavy concrete material, which Ross Inglis of Edenton Construction Company said is too heavy for the structure. The reinforcement and material was estimated to cost $62,000—if the county could find someone willing to do the work.

Inglis said: "What really matters is don't damage the building and keep the rain out."

Organizations United For Funds Campaign

The organizations associated with historic houses in Edenton, including the Cupola House Association and the James Iredell House Association, have decided to make a combined appeal for contributions this year in cooperation with the Edenton Historical Commission. Consolidation of the "Friends of Historic Edenton" fund-raising campaign is intended to improve the efficiency of the work of each historical organization, and to enable those of you who support these organizations to make a single generous gift. In the mailing which many of you have already received from the Commission, there is a coupon that will allow you to specify the organization to which you would like to make a donation.

The funds that are traditionally raised by the Friends of Historic Edenton drive make possible a number of capital improvements to the town's historic houses.

The Barker House recently received a new roof, a fresh coat of paint, and the restoration of the two south chimneys that were damaged by a storm. It is hoped that interior structural repairs and redecoration of the Barker House can be accomplished in the coming year.

Plans are being made for the construction of a dependency behind the Cupola House which is to house the furnace and also provide storage for tools. Burglar and fire alarms will be installed, and a special campaign is underway to acquire furnishings.

In the Iredell House, within the next year, the State will install period lighting fixtures and fire and burglar alarms. Members of the Association are working to Edenton; Ahoskie Game Determines Conference Rep.

The Edenton Aces hope to make it nine in a row Friday night when they go to Ahoskie for the final game of the current scheduled football season. Both teams have identical 6-0 records in the 3-A Northeastern Conference and the winner will represent the conference in post-season play.

Coach Jimmy Addison and his tough lads will be going for all the marbles at Ahoskie, therefore, the contest is expected to be a real battle. The Aces, lead by Henry Drew's spectacular running, have posted 54 points in the last two outings while giving up only 12 points.

After a 28-6 victory over Williamston, the Aces fought the elements Friday night and came out on top of Roanoke, 26-6. Drew, a junior fullback, rushed for 253 yards in the latest outing, scoring three touchdowns.

In the first quarter, Drew thrilled the fans with a 26-yard run; came back with a 55-yarder in the wet third stanza; and bulldozed over the four for a final period TD.

Obstetrician Joining Staff

It was announced today that the Albemarle Family Health Services of Edenton, a non-profit corporation, will add obstetrics to its existing range of health services within the near future.

Leonard R. Worden, Ph.D., M.D. will be moving to the area to initiate a practice in obstetrics and family practice. It is expected that Dr. Worden will complement the services of another specialist in obstetrics and gynecology who has been recruited and who will be announced at a later date.

Dr. Worden, age 40, has had an outstanding career. He received a B.A. in chemistry from Michigan in 1959 and received a Ph.D. in organic chemistry from the University of Michigan in 1963. His Doctor of Medicine was received in 1977 from the
