

Wildfoods Weekend
Oct. 3-5

October 3-5 has been set as the dates for the Outer Banks October Marsh and Sea Feast at the N. C. Marine Resources Center-Roanoke Island.

The wildfoods weekend will feature the identification, gathering and preparation of edible wild foods. Both wild plants and the cooking of seafood will be a focus of the planned workshop activities.

Programs will be a combination of slides, exhibits, and demonstrations designed to make the weekend enjoyable and educational. Hilda Livingstone said. She is educational coordinator at the center and is coordinating the weekend program.

Edelene Wood of Parkersburg, W. Va., will be one of the workshop participants. An outstanding teacher, lecturer, and writer, she was featured in several articles written by the late Euell Gibbons.

She founded the annual fall Nature Wonder Weekend at North Bend State Park in West Virginia and is active in a number of wild food festivals throughout the country.

Also on the program will be L. J. Musselman of Old Dominion University. He will present a program on poisonous and edible plants.

Other program leaders will direct the search of edible plants and seafood. Cost for the three-day program is $15 per person or $25 per couple. This includes snacks, coffee, educational programs, a luncheon on Saturday, and a wild food banquet on Saturday night.

Register checks should be made payable to the N. C. Marine Education and Resources Foundation and mailed to the Marine Resources Center, Manteo, N.C. 27954.

Space is limited with reservations on a first-come first-serve basis.
