Why I Am Going To Vote For RONALD REAGAN

—By James E. Wood—

The presidential election this year is no ordinary contest between Democrats Republicans. It is a crucial contest between those who see the military and economic dangers facing our nation today and those who don't. Party loyalty should give way to doing what's best for

As I see it, during the past 31/2 years, President Carter has not been doing what's best for the country. A recent editorial in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot listed some of the mistakes Mr. Carter has made in dealing with our national defense requirements:

"Cancelled the B-I bomber (also shelved the neutron bomb), delayed MX three years, delayed all cruise missiles two years, delayed Trident submarines two years, postponed Trident II, delayed Pershing II missiles two years, terminated Lance missile production, cancelled the modernization of Minuteman II. closed the Minuteman III production line, withdrawn troops from Korea (perhaps adding to the destabilization that led to the coup), slashed the nuclear warhead program, slashed funding for war-fighting stocks, cut in half the Ford administration's shipbuilding plans, and reduced the size of the Army, Navy and Airforce."

All this cancellation and curtailment while the Soviet Union was doing just the opposite, building up its military might in every category, far in excess of its defense needs and giving it and its satellites a commanding lead over us and our allies. Isn't this incredible folly ample evidence that Jimmy Carter should not be trusted any longer with the management of our national defense?

In addition to taking dangerous risks with the security of our country, the Carter administration has monked up our economy to such an extent that the inflation rate has risen from President Ford's 4 per cent to as high as 18 per cent this year. Price increases in almost every category are keeping us all on the run, threatening us with bankruptcy and the country with economic chaos. The net result is the current recession with its innumerable factory shutdowns, high unemployment, a huge federal deficit and no real improvement in sight.

The Carter-inflicted damage to our economy is so great that a Reagan administration could hardly be expected to turn it around overnight. But it could certainly begin rooting out the foolish practices that are causing so much trouble. Under a continuation of the Carter administration, the chances are that the economy would continue to decline because that's what it has been doing ever since Carter took office. Ronald Reagan did such a good job as Governor of California that he was elected to a second term. That speaks for itself, and it is said that being a successful Governor of California is next to being a successful President of the United

Ronald Reagan is not a conventional, or a "slick" politician. Otherwise, he would never have mentioned the politically "unmentionable" virtues of the Vietnam war, or the sudden betrayal of our old ally, Taiwan. Surely it was a noble purpose to stand by our SEATO allies and try to prevent the free people of South Vietnam from being enslaved by the communists, but Presidents Kennedy and Johnson went about it in an idiotic manner.

As for Taiwan, it was a reprehensible act on the part of the Carter administration to dump our old friends as precipitously and without the legality of U. S. Senate approval; and surely the Chinese on the mainland will remember the U.S. betrayal of their cousins on Taiwan. Reagan's objections were absolutely sound!

I believe Ronald Reagan would choose a cabinet of experienced men and women who would approach every issue, domestic and foreign, with more common sense than would the Carter crowd. A Reagan administration, I believe, would maintain a kindly but practical Welfare Department. It would provide effective relief and training for the unemployed until they obtained gainful employment. Special emphasis would be placed on helping the unemployed to secure jobs in the private sector, not in phony, makeshift,

"leaf-raking," useless government jobs.

Ronald Reagan knows that private enterprise is what made this country great. It makes the profit that pays the taxes that provide the revenue that pays for everything. Naturally encouragement will be given to promote the growth of private enterprise, so it can provide good, lasting jobs for as many as possible of our 8 million or more unemployed.

As I see the two men, Ronald Reagan is safer and more of a common-sense candidate for the presidency than Jimmy Carter. Carter is still willing to trust the Soviets and go ahead with the SALT II pact, which is loaded in favor of the Soviet Union. Reagan does not trust the Soviets and believes that we should not enter into any agreement that would jeopardize our security and prevent us from regaining our military superiority. Carter is willing to take a risk that Reagan believes is unnecessary and poterially catastrophic!

Because of our declining military power compared to that of the Soviet Union, the Carter road to peace will not lead to peace, but step by step to surrender. We have already surrendered to the Soviets in Cuba, Iran and Nicaragua, each being in its own way vital to our economy or security. Russia's aim is not to have a war with us, but to become so much stronger militarily that it would be suicidal for us to fight. Our only alternative then would be to surrender, God forbid, and lose the freedom our ancestors fought, bled and died to bless us with!

Ronald Reagan's national defense policy is not bellicose or provocative. It is simply to build back our military might in relation to that of the Soviets as soon as possible, so that thereafter we can negotiate from strength, not weakness, in protecting our interests and maintaining peace throughout the world. That, and all the rest, is why I am going to vote for Ronald Reagan.

Think about it; and I hope that you will decide to vote for Ronald
