Postal Service Drops Request

The Postal Service reports that as a result of recent Congressional action it was temporarily deferring its request for approval of an incentive for volume mailers using the ZIP + 4 Code.

In the Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981, signed into law Aug. 13, the Postal Service was authorized to proceed with preparatory steps toward the implementation of the ZIP + 4 program, but was directed by Congress not to put into effect a ZIP + 4 rate incentive for mailers before Oct. 1, 1983.

"In light of this provision of the new law," Postmaster General William F. Bolger said, "we are withdrawing our current filing with the Postal Rate Commission seeking approval of a ZIP + 4 discount rate. However, we will definitely file another ZIP + 4 request — and on a schedule that will allow mailers to take advantage of incentive rates as soon as they can legally be made available."

Bolger termed the provision of the law delaying the incentive "unfortunate, because it denies volume mailers the ability to start saving on their postage bills sooner rather than later." But, he said, "our commitment to the ZIP + 4 program remains strong, because it represents a significant step toward controlling costs and stabilizing future postage rate increases."
