The Bandon Notebook

By Maggie B.
HI, NEIGHBORS! Today was such a gorgeous day - made one happy just to be alive! What a blessing it is to be able to see and hear all the wonders of nature which God created for our enjoyment - and - to be able to walk through the fallen leaves, down to the edge of the water and watch the mighty Chowan, secretly wondering if the waters could talk, what wonderful tales it would tell. On such a day as this, it is hard to realize that "ole man Winter" is just around the corner! We should start thinking about ways and means to help others who are not so fortunate as we - invest ourselves and our means in a manner that would bring joy to others. NOW is the time! Don't put it off.

I was going through some papers and found a bit of prose by Elizabeth M. Gerus, entitled "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow". Share it with me:

"There are only three days that matter in anyone's life. The first of these is YESTERDAY. Can you look back on it and feel that you did your best? Or, did you, somewhere, miss a chance to give something beautiful to the world? You can never relive it, but you do have a second chance with TODAY. What will you do with it? Are you ready to meet its challenge ... to open your heart to happiness and share it with others? Or, will you wait for TOMORROW, dreaming and planning for what you hope will be?"

The choice is yours, but remember - you cannot change yesterday, and tomorrow may not be all that you expect. But today - today is here and now, and if you use it well, you will be rich indeed."

PRAYER LIST: In my opinion, prayer is the most powerful force in this world today. Please add our friends to your prayer list. Owen Pate, husband of Connie Pate, was confined to Chowan Hospital Thursday unable to get his breath. He has improved but needs your prayer. His Room No. is 2052. Cecil Gregory's surgery was successful and he was released from the hospital Thursday. Keep him on your prayer list. Kenneth Copeland is hospitalized at Albemarle Hospital, Elizabeth City. Pray that God's will be done. Mary Gardner, friend of Flagg Campbell, was taken back to the hospital at Duke and needs prayer. Please remember Dean Peele, Jerry Marlowe, Harold Arnold, Sr., Meta Mason, our missionaries; our country and its leaders; also the people of this Nation, and our Pastor, Robert S. Harrell and his family. Also Robin Adcock was hospitalized Monday at Mary Immaculate Hospital, Denbeigh Blvd., Newport News, Va. Room 358 desperately needs your prayers.

Music Education Workshop To Be Held

There's more to enjoying a concert than meets the eye. Understanding what the ears is considered most important, especially for school students whose ears, perhaps, are unaccustomed to the pleasurable sounds of symphonic music.

To help assure that all 4th - 8th grade students are prepared when they attend on January 28 a free educational concert by the North Carolina Symphony, Edenton-Chowan Schools is offering educational workshops for their teachers. Mrs. Shelby Strother, John A. Holmes High music chairman and the Chowan County Chapter of the N. C. Symphony's co-chairperson for the student educational concert, is conducting the workshop.

During the workshop, the educational musical program of the 1981-82 N. C. Symphony children's concert will be introduced for teachers to share with students in the classroom. Ideas and ways in which teachers might teach the music through their regular classroom subject matter will also be offered. Language arts, music appreciation, art, history, enrichment and even math can be made more exciting for students as the elements of the upcoming symphony program are incorporated in the teaching process. Knowing in advance what to listen for and having background knowledge of composers, their works and the mechanics of a symphony will enable teachers to stimulate students' interest and appreciation of symphonic music.

Successful completion of the 10-hour staff development workshop, attended voluntarily by teachers, provides those participating an opportunity to gain one unit of credit towards certificate renewal.

The North Carolina Symphony is being brought to Edenton on January 28, by the Chowan County Chapter of the N. C. Symphony, formed this summer under the auspices of the Edenton-Chowan Schools

TEACHERS PREPARE SO STUDENTS can better understand and enjoy the North Carolina Symphony's educational concert which they will attend on January 28. Shelby Strother (background, standing), workshop instructor, impresses upon the 4-8 grade teachers the importance of teaching children to listen.
