— Still Meadow —

astride that old bear.

We journeyed on to Roper and Plymouth and on the way back home we stopped by a John Deere display and really could not believe the size and cost of some of those awesome peices of farm equipment. I noticed plows, disc harrows and middle busters attached in rows to those tractors that would make child's play of a whole farm in a few hours. We had one of each — attached to a mule and my father's or brother's hands.

Progress is to be expected and certainly desired of each generation, but I would not exchange my years on the farm and the way we were for all of the high technology in this world. What's more — I never saw a mule mired in the mud.

Now the snow seems to be on it's way. The clouds are heavy and it is cold — at Still Meadow.

Snow in April

Snow and flowering trees. Azaleas and new bedding plants outside — the light green leaves of the pear tree against the pines and a laden sky. Some pale sunshine on the tall tree trunks filters through to the meadow — birds looking for food. I wish that I could put the lovely scene on canvas. Once I wished to paint a sunset over Edenton Bay and Robert said, you can't. He was right — only God could paint what is to be seen out there today or when the sun sinks in the west.

The seasons come — some early — some late — but the balance wheel of nature puts all things right in it's own good time and all of our fritting will change it not. My friend says — all look and we see — so take time today to look — to see and to smell the flowers. They are everywhere — as well as at Still Meadow.

More than 16 million persons passed through the immigration station at New York's Ellis Island before its closing in 1954.

Richardson Preyer, State Employee and Hunt Fund Raiser

Jim Hunt

The JIM HUNT Record

Subject: Taxes and the N.C. Campaign Fund (Hunt PAC)

Jim Hunt Did: Jim Hunt's N. C. Campaign Fund¹ to defeat Jesse Helms was set up by his friend Richardson Preyer,² with Hunt's patronage and your tax dollar.^{1,3}

The $66,000 Man!

Did Jim Hunt's PAC Use Your Tax Dollars To Set Up The NCCF?

- First, Jim Hunt's Political Action Committee Chairman, Richardson Preyer was paid a state salary of $66,000 for teaching a few hours a week at the University of North Carolina.¹
- Then Preyer got fifteen of Hunt's political cronies, four of them on the state payroll, to lend Hunt's PAC $40,000.⁴
- While a state employee (earning $66,000 a year),³ Preyer and the Hunt PAC held press conferences attacking Hunt's opponent.^{5,5}
- Hunt and Preyer then traveled to New York,⁶ Atlanta,⁷ and Washington⁸ to raise over $165,000⁹ for the Hunt PAC.
- The Hunt PAC bought newspaper ads attacking Hunt's opponent^{10,11,12} that even the liberal media said were false and misleading.^{13,14}
- The Hunt PAC got thousands of dollars from Sol Linowitz (who negotiated the Panama Canal giveaway),¹⁵ Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and other liberal millionaires and union bosses.^{7,16}
- The Hunt PAC is mailing over a million fundraising letters, attacking Hunt's opponent, to raise millions from the liberal activists outside North Carolina.^{17,18}

So, the taxpayers shelled out $66,000 — and Jim Hunt got his Political Action Committee.

Ask yourself?

Should The $66,000 Man Use Tax Dollars To Build The Hunt Political Machine?
