Swain Speaks: Holiday Parties Are Held

Mrs. Betty Byrum's fourth grade students put on a holiday program for the student body on Tuesday. Christmas parties were held in each room on Wednesday. The students will be out of school until January 2, 1985.

Congratulations to Jermaine Jer-nigan and Marion Dillard, who earned their computer licenses this week.

Fourth Grade

In school this week we wrote letters to Santa and a Christmas poem and a winter poem. We made Santa faces out of cones and stained glass windows of paper. We practiced our play in the auditorium. We also learned new songs for the play and music. We have a Christmas tree in the hall with ornaments from each classroom. This is our last week of school before Christmas vacation.

This week Mrs. Addison's AG fourth grade class has been getting ready for Christmas. Our room is all ready for the joyful season to come, and we think everyone that comes in our class is ready for it too! We know we are! We did Christmas acronyms. We put them on white construction paper and decorated them by coloring them. They were very pretty. Mrs. Addison has decorated our door, cupboard, and fish tank with red plaid ribbon and little white baby's breath. Our door is decorated with a wreath and holly and ribbon. This week we are going to have a good time because we are going to have a short week.

In Mrs. Copeland's Health class

we are learning about safety signs. A red eight-sided sign always means stop. Don't just slow down. Stop. A sign with a red circle and straight white bar means do not enter. You must never drive into a street where this sign is posted. A sign with a red circle and a slash always means no! The yellow diamond-shaped sign gives you a warning of danger ahead. The round yellow and black sign always means railroad crossing ahead. Slow down. Listen for the train whistle. Be prepared to stop. The red and white triangle sign means yield. You must slow down or stop if necessary. We are learning a lot in health and will learn more.

Fifth Grade

Beginning in social studies we are doing reports on people of the American Revolution. In the computer Math game on level 8 division is Angie Cole in first place and John Oliver in 2nd place. This week we are reading a special Christmas story called "Mr. Posy's Christmas Tree". In Mrs. Swanner's language arts class we are writing letters to Santa. We have seen a dental hygienist about teeth. For P.E. we are playing "Goal Hi" (like basketball). And last, but not least, are leaders in Successful Snowflakes are Barbara Overman and Robert Ashley.
