

Swain Speaks: Holiday Parties Are Held

great architect. Our class has a Christmas tree. Our homeroom has made reindeer ornaments out of clothespins. The language arts class made wreaths out of pipe cleaners and lace. They are very pretty. Mrs. Byrum's math class made Christmas trees and presents from geometric cones and cubes. Three students from our class, Chris Bunch, Jenny Cahoon, and Cliff Beaman, were on the radio with news from Swain this week on the "In The Know" program.

By Stephanie Gibson
My name is Stephanie Gibson. I am going to tell you a little bit about what's happening in Mrs. Addison's AG fifth language arts class. Thursday when Mrs. Addison went to a meeting we had a substitute named Mrs. Mallinson. She said she was born in China. She taught us some Chinese words like buh su which means no and su which means yes and also she showed us some Chinese numbers. Everyone is AG-5 would like her to come back and teach us some more Chinese.

Sixth Grade
By Stewart Nixon
My name is Stewart Nixon and I am in Mrs. Addison's AG-6 language arts class. This has been an exciting school year so far. In language we are reading a great book that we do not know the title of. Mrs. Addison will not tell us. She calls it Hafid. It is a good book for teaching you to become a better person for yourself and for others. It is in the form of scrolls. The main character, Hafid, in the first part, is very successful and is trying to find the 3rd person who would receive the scrolls. In the second part, Hafid goes back when he was applying the scrolls to his life. It is a very interesting book. I hope the rest of the year is like this!

A Look Into Mrs. Thatch's Class Windows

By John Parrish, Tiajuana Taylor, Niki Tyner, Courtney Hampton, and Tony Copeland

Hi! My name is John Parrish. At Swain we've been selling gift wrapping paper, calendars, and thermometers. In Mrs. Thatch's room, Bobby Bass is in first place with twenty-five sales, and I'm in second place with twenty-four sales. Boy, we'll be glad to see our prizes.

Hello! My name is Kathryn Courtney Hampton. I'm another reporter in my classroom. As you know, the six weeks tests were last week. In Mrs. Thatch's Language Arts class the highest grades were as follows. In Reading - Keystone's highest grade was made by Terri Wills. Medley's highest grade was made by Kathryn Courtney Hampton. In English and Spelling the highest grades were made by Terri Wills again. Congratulations!

Hey what's up. My name is Tiajuana Luette Taylor. In Social Studies we are studying the Southern and New England colonies. While we are learning them, we are playing a game. The game is really neat. To play it, you must be alert, attentive, and must have listened well in class while we were reading and discussing these colonies. We are given cards with the words on them that we have to recognize and define. But we have to be the first person to raise our hands on the count of three. Boy, sometimes it's a tie because we all enjoy competing to get the most cards. You'd have to tell as much about the word on the card as you possibly know. If someone else can add more to what you say, they win the word. So far, Chris Copeland has won the most words in our Social Studies game.

Hello there! My name is Niki Tyner. I'm reporting on what we're doing in Health. Do you know the scientific names of your bones? Well, by next week, we will know all of the bones by their scientific names, where they are located, and their specific shapes. Did you know that we have over two hundred bones in the skeletal system? Well we're learning ours through song.

Hello! I'm next to make my report! I'm Tony Copeland. Mrs. Thatch has made a chart called the Courteous Dragons'. The class has been divided into two teams called the Bulldogs and the A Team. There are twelve students on each team. Each team is trying to win 100 points in either Social Studies, Science or Health. But they have to be the team who is the most courteous in the class. This must be a way to get the class quiet, I know, but it's also working to improve discipline. Right now both teams are tied. By the end of the month we will (as a team) choose our subject we prefer to put our bonus points. Another thing we did I enjoyed was our very good science experiments. Just about everyone in our class did an experiment about matter. We had fun watching and doing them.

This has been a look into Mrs. Thatch's class window. Everyday has been an interesting one.

Congratulations to Jermaine Jer-nigan and Marlon Dillard who earned their computer licenses this week.
