Open invitation issued to tree lovers

The staff of Pettigrew State Park has issued an open invitation to anyone interested in trees to help find the largest trees of each kind to be placed on North Carolina's "Champion Big Tree" list. Pettigrew State Park's forest is possibly virgin and contains many potential State records. Park personnel will lead groups into areas where record-sized trees probably exist. Visitors will have to measure the trees to find the largest one. Champions that will definitely be found include Shagback Hickory, Pawpaw, and Devil's Walking Stick.

Searchers should bring a tape measure, binoculars, and hiking shoes. They should plan to meet at the Park Office at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, March 16.

Methodist Mens' meeting hosted

The Edenton United Methodist Church will be host to a District United Methodist Mens' meeting Sunday, March 9, at 3:30 p.m. Charles Sauls, conference president, will be the speaker and the new district officers will be installed. Following the meeting, a fellowship meal will be served by the United Methodist Women of the Edenton United Methodist Church. Methodist Men from the entire Elizabeth City District are invited to attend this meeting.

Tornado Week

Dear Sir:
March 2 through March 8 has been designated as Tornado Awareness Week in North Carolina. As in the past, this week has been set aside as the period in which North Carolina citizens should make a special effort to become familiar with tornado safety rules.

We are now entering the most dangerous time of the year for tornadoes. In the past most tornadoes have struck North Carolina in March, April and May. Since these dangerous storms have left few North Carolina counties untouched, I feel that now is a good time to prepare for this safety exercise.

Tornado Awareness Week is annually sponsored by the North Carolina Division of Emergency Management, the National Weather Service, the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, and the Chowan County Office of Emergency Management. These agencies urge all North Carolinians to participate in the statewide tornado drill scheduled for Wednesday March 5. It is designed to teach citizens as much as possible about these storms should they strike the Chowan County area.

We at the Chowan County Emergency Management Office will be happy to work with any person or group that wants to learn more about tornadoes and how to survive them.

Proposed Budget

Dear Sir:
I am deeply concerned about the projected impact of the 1987 proposed executive budget on the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service. President Reagan has proposed a budget for 1987 that will impose serious fiscal restraints by proposing massive 54% cuts in federal funding. This will mean a reduction in personnel and services.

As a farmer's wife and extension homemaker, I indeed see the importance of extension programs to individuals, family, community and county. With a budget reduction this would put more stress on the rural people if they did not have someone to contact for encouragement, information and advice.

Through extension programs, information is available to all people on all economic levels.

Immediate action is needed since Congress is currently preparing budget legislation. You may wish to write your congressmen, stating your concern with the president's proposal to cut federal extension funds by 54%, by asking for support in restoring extension funding to the 1985 level.

The extension service is the only network with the capacity to gather and disseminate information to every county in the nation. Without federal support, the nationwide character of this service would change -- maybe not exist.

I ask your support in writing your congressmen by March 10, expressing your concern for extension programs. People in Chowan County benefit each day from the expertise, knowledge and cooperation of our extension personnel.

Sincerely,
Mary Julia Parrish, Chairman
Chowan County Extension Advisory Council

Black History

Dear Sir:
Like all of its special show-case exhibits, the Shepard-Pruden Library's recognition of Black History Month is well done. And the newspaper is to be commended for its photographic coverage of these exhibits.
