

Construction Plans Progressing

More Like A Hill
In truth, what sort of an image is hiding behind those 30-second television spots being run on behalf of Jim Broyhill's candidacy for the United States senate? Let's take a closer look at some of them.

There is one showing two old maiden-like school teachers rejoicing that Senator Broyhill was able to cut the red tape and get their Social Security checks arriving again. For that reason, they are both all for him in the upcoming election.

What is the reality behind that bought-and-paid-for commercial?

The reality is that any clerk in the Social Security office could have done what Senator Broyhill did if these two women are as deserving as they are represented to be. Beyond that, if they really are retired school teachers, they should be thanking Terry Sanford as well as Jim Broyhill. Had it not been for his efforts as governor in raising teachers' salaries, those Social Security checks would now

According to Bob Thomas, "Everything is going along real well," on projects he is shepherding through to completion in Chowan County. While no ground has been broken yet, Thomas said that plans for a motel, shopping center and an additional nine holes for a golf course are on schedule.

Thomas is a general partner in a partnership with Van Johnson and Dowdy Brothers to build a Travel Host Inn on a 2.9 acre site which was the former location of the Terry Jones Mobile Home Sales on N.C. 32 north.

The motel will have 66 units, a swimming pool and cable T.V. Thomas said that the site could accommodate an additional 36 units at some future date. He indicated that construction can begin when all of the necessary state and local permits have been issued.

The Town Council will consider a resolution at its Oct. 14 meeting to annex the site. The cost of extending town water and sewer lines to the location will be borne by the developers.

The partnership is also planning the construction of a shopping center on 20 acres across N.C. 32 from the motel. Thomas said that negotiations were underway with a major retail business as a prospective tenant. The developers expect to have "two or three national type retail tenants."

The Chowan Golf and Country Club is planning a nine hole addition to the existing golf course. Thomas, who is Vice-President of Jimbo's Jumbos, is chairman of the long-range planning committee for the country club and also a member of its board of directors.

Tom Wood will develop home sites bordering the new course extension which will stretch across the Mulberry Hill Farm and encompass some 180 acres. Thomas said that Wood had donated the land for the nine hole course. Approval for the plan has been given by the County Planning Board and final approval by the County Board of Commissioners may be gained at their meeting this month, he said.

Asked if the houses on the farm would be leveled, Thomas stated that "current plans call for no destruction of the present structures."

A tentative agreement on the course design and layout has been reached and "We hope to break ground this fall," he concluded.

Voters Get Choices

By JACK GROVE

Voters will have two opportunities to vote for their choice for a U.S. Senator from North Carolina on Nov. 4. Republican James Broyhill was appointed by Governor James Martin to fill the vacancy left by the death of Senator John East.

Under state law, the appointment expires on the date of the next general election while the unexpired term extends to Jan. 3.

According to Lucille Suiter of the State Election Board in Raleigh, voters will find Broyhill and Democratic challenger Terry Sanford listed twice on the ballot. One of the listings is for the normal six year term of a senator and the other will be for the two month period of the unexpired term.

While it is technically possible that one of the candidates may be elected for the short term and the other for the six year term, political pundits have called that outcome extremely unlikely.

The Federal Election Commission has ruled that individuals and political action committees can double their contributions to the two candidates this year due to this unusual circumstance.

The Broyhill campaign staff has said that the additional contributions will be accepted but will not be solicited. Sanford said that he would not accept doubled contributions.

Those wishing to vote in the general elections must register not later than 5 p.m., Monday, Oct. 6 at the Board of Elections office or at Shepard-Pruden Memorial Library.

OCTOBER PROCLAIMED AWARENESS MONTH—Edenton Mayor John Dowd signs a proclamation designating the month of Oct. as DAV Handicapped Parking Awareness Month. The proclamation points out that many non-disabled motorists disregard handicapped parking signs. Infractions will be ticketed by the police dept. Looking on are DAV representatives Robert Ziemba, Robert Whitley, Elnora Walker and Eldon Reynolds; DAV Auxiliary member, Ruth Whitley; and Police Chief John Parrish.

OVERNIGHT VISITOR—The Elizabeth II made an overnight visit to Edenton Tuesday. Crewmen are making final checks on mooring lines at the town dock as a group of local residents welcome the visitor. The Union Camp Co. tug, Tuscarora, can be seen at left after assisting the small ship into her berth.

Elizabeth II Visits Edenton

Local residents got a sneak preview Tuesday of the replica of the ship that brought the first colonists to Roanoke Island. The Elizabeth II moored to the dock at the foot of Broad St. at 6 p.m. after a visit to Elizabeth City during the Albemarle Craftsman's Fair.

The ship and her crew were on their way up the Chowan River to Winton for a twenty day visit. The ship will return on October 21 for a week's stay in conjunction with the annual Edenton Tea Party celebration.

While the ship was not open to visitors, the overnight stay gave the crew an opportunity to see a little of Edenton and a chance for some residents to chat with them.

The sixteenth century ship left her home port of Manteo on Sept. 20 and sails on her own when weather permits. At other times the Elizabeth II is assisted by an accompanying tug.

The ship left Edenton at 10 a.m. Wednesday for a mid-afternoon arrival in Winton. Upon her return, the ship will be open for visiting from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

The Elizabeth II is a state historic site under the management of the N.C. Dept. of Cultural Resources.

Governor Martin Will Host Ceremony Honoring Local Volunteers

RALEIGH—On October 10, 1986, Governor and Mrs. James G. Martin will host a ceremony and reception in honor of Eastern North Carolina's volunteers at the annual Governor's Volunteer Recognition Ceremony for 1986 in New Bern.

Local volunteers to be honored at the ceremony include George Stokes (individual community volunteer leader); William M. Zarbock (individual human service volunteer); Suzanne Palmer (school volunteer); and Marjorie Stutzman (representing the John A. Holmes H.S. Library Club, volunteer organization).

County Committees in all of North Carolina's 100 counties were invited to choose award recipients from the statewide categories of two community service volunteers, one school volunteer, and one volunteer organization. County nominations were submitted to the Governor's Office of Citizen Affairs, which

Meeting Scheduled

Charles H. Shaw, Jr., chairman of the Chowan County Democratic Party, announces the Chowan County Democratic Party Executive Committee will hold a working meeting on Thursday, October 9, 1986, 8:00 p.m. at the Shepard-Pruden Library.

All interested Democrats are invited. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the forthcoming Election.

has scheduled the reception to begin at 2:00 p.m. at the Jones House Gardens, followed by the awards ceremony at 3:00 p.m. at the Tryon Palace Auditorium.

Governor and Mrs. Martin will formally present the Governor's Awards for Outstanding Volunteer Service and official North Carolina volunteer pins. According to Governor Martin, this regional recognition is an important part of the Administration's efforts to encourage and honor some of North Carolina's 4 million volunteers.

"The Governor's Award for Outstanding Volunteer Service is North Carolina's tribute to the tireless efforts and boundless care that so many of our citizen volunteers contribute to their communities and to their state," Governor Martin said.

Those wishing to serve as school volunteers in the Edenton-Chowan Schools may contact volunteer coordinators, Danny Long at D.F. Walker, Jolyquin Belkfield at White Oak, Vivian Trent at Chowan Jr. High or Walter Noneman, System Volunteer Coordinator.

RURITANS CONTRIBUTE—Roger Smith, president of the Rocky Hock Ruritans presents a check for $1,065 to Stephanie Nugen, county chairman for the Ronald McDonald House fund drive as Leigh Ambrose of the Edenton Jaycees looks on. The funds will go toward completion of the facility at Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville. The Ruritans collected the money through a letter campaign this summer among Rocky Hock residents.

Parker Hears Court Cases

Chowan District Court was in session Sept. 30, the Honorable J. Richard Parker presiding over the criminal calendar.

Probable cause was found in the case of Frankie Lorenzo Etheridge, charged with breaking and entering a motor vehicle and the case was bound over to Superior Court.

James Iredell Gilliam pleaded guilty to intoxicated and disruptive behavior. He was sentenced to 20 days, suspended for one year upon payment of cost of court. He was ordered not to go on the premises of Chowan Hospital for one year unless admitted as a patient.

Leonard Burl Cobb, III pleaded guilty to taking and possessing game birds in a closed season. He was sentenced to 30 days, suspended for one year upon payment of a $50 fine and cost of court. He was ordered to pay $56 for the benefit of the N.C. Wildlife Comm. for replacement cost of the quail.

Rescue Squad Founder Dies

Murray Delk Ashley, 67, of 19 Iredell Dr., Edenton, died at Chowan Hospital on Monday, September 29.

Retired from the U.S. Air Force, Ashley worked for the state and Chowan County as Civil Defense Coordinator and Emergency Management Coordinator. He helped to organize and was a charter member of the Edenton-Chowan Rescue Squad which was formed in May 1965.

He was a member of the Edenton Baptist Church, a volunteer for the American Red Cross and taught EMT in the Albemarle area.

Current Emergency Management Coordinator, Doug Belch, said of Ashley, "He contributed much of his time and efforts in developing other people. He could see qualities in you that a lot of times you didn't see. He would bring out these good qualities. He gave me a lot of trust and confidence in doing this job."

County Commission Chairman Alton Elmore said, "I would doubt seriously that the county has ever
