The first meeting of the D.F. Walker Parent-Teachers Organization will be held on Tuesday, September 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. We would like to encourage all parents to attend and take an active role in their children's education.

At this first meeting, we will be introducing our drug and alcohol awareness and prevention program. It is our hope that all parents, teachers and students will benefit from continuing education on these subjects. Our first meeting will also offer each parent an opportunity to visit their child's classroom and speak with his or her teacher during our "Open House".

We need the help and interest of all the parents who have children attending D.F. Walker School to make this a very productive year for the PTA. For those of you who have not yet signed up, I would like to invite you to come to our meeting and do so.

Through positive input and encouragement, I believe that we, as parents, CAN make a difference in the lives of our children!

The Lawrence Academy Parent-Teacher Organization will meet on Monday, September 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the gym. Parents and friends are invited to meet faculty members, staff and school board members at the first meeting of the school year.

Following the meeting, visitors are invited to an open house which will feature newly-decorated classrooms, the computer lab and the video room. P.T.O. officers for 1987-88 are: Presidents - Anne Ellis and Joan Daniels; Secretary - Janice Stotesberry; and Treasurer - Bob Gillam. Ann Slocum is membership chairman and Neil Asby is coordinating the P.T.O. newsletter.

Jesus came down to meet
you to take you up
to Heaven with him.
It was a sad evening
for all of us.

But in our hearts we know
you are with Jesus.
For no longer do you have to suffer in pain, but have eternal life in Heaven.

Though it has been a year,
we miss you dearly.
And we can still remember
that great sense of humor,
that smile, and that
twinkle in your eye.

So until we meet again
in that Promised Land
called Heaven,
we love you dearly!

Celebration Is Planned

By WALTER NONEMAN
School-Community
Relations Director

All this week, Americans will continue joining together to celebrate the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution. In addition to being a time of jubilation featuring parades, fireworks and speeches, it will be a period for reflection.

The week of September 17 is exactly 200 years after delegates to the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia signed the historic document. Many activities have already taken place in the Edenton-Chowan Schools in observance of the event, and more are planned. Activities planned for today will include:

D.F. Walker School - A flag raising ceremony will be sponsored by the Student Council at 9 a.m.

The "Ring of Bells" will take place at 4 p.m. this afternoon at local churches throughout the community.

The U.S. Navy Band will play on the old Courthouse Green at 7:30 p.m. this evening. A special exhibit, "Charters for Freedom," will also be on display today. Also, Winston Dail will announce the winners of the Constitution Contest.

Everyone is encouraged to attend all these activities.

Series Slated

The North Carolina Department of Public Instruction will begin its thirtieth year of School Television on September 14 at 8:30 a.m.

Airing over the University of North Carolina Center for Public Television Network, the new schedule will offer 123 instructional television series, selected by educators, to correlate with the North Carolina curriculum. A teacher's guide is available for each series and offers program objectives and activities to help teachers integrate the School Television programs into their lesson plans as instructional resources.

Fourteen new series, added to the 1987-88 schedule, are geared to the curriculum areas of health, art, geography, history, literature, reading, science, career planning, business and office skills. One new series, the United States Constitution, features six programs which examine the scope and power of the document. The series was produced to coincide with the bicentennial.

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT

There was a time when you could wine and dine a business client and deduct the full expense on your income tax return. With the passage of the "1986 Tax Reform Act", you might want to switch from a vintage wine and lobster to a beer and a pizza.

Most business-related meal and entertainment expenses are now, as of tax year 1987, subject to an 80% limitation on deductibility.

An expense can only be considered deductible when the following conditions are met: (1) it must be an ordinary and necessary expense and (2) the meal or entertainment must be directly related to the conduct of the taxpayer's business. In addition, the taxpayer, his employee or another representative must be present and a business discussion must take place before, after or during the meal.

Among the meal and entertainment expenses which are still 100% deductible are the following: (1) transportation to and from the place of entertainment, (2) meals or entertainment considered as compensation to an employee, (3) business gifts of food (such as holiday turkeys), (4) food given away as samples to the general public for promotional purposes, and (5) meals that are an integral part of a business banquet.

"The 1986 Tax Reform Act" has eliminated the deductions for certain travel expenses, including travel as a form or education, expenses incurred while attending investment seminars, and expenses for charitable travel which involves a significant amount of personal pleasure.

Proof of entertainment, business meals and travel expenses must be accurately documented in order to take the deductions at all. The IRS will want to know the cost, date, place and business purpose of the activity. If you have questions as to the deductibility of your business-related entertainment expenses, please contact us.
