Brandon Hughes

Hughes is recognized for leadership

Brandon Hughes has been selected to attend the Legislators' School for Youth Leadership Development to be held on the campus of East Carolina University in Greenville, NC. Nominated by his school as a student who demonstrates leadership potential, he will attend the Senior High Session, July 4-17.

The program is funded by the North Carolina General Assembly and is under the direction of the Office of School Services of the School of Education, East Carolina University.

During the two-week program, Hughes will attend classes and participate in activities designed to enhance leadership skills, all within an experience-based framework developed around the Seven Habits of Highly Effective People by Dr. Stephen Covey. In addition to the classwork, Hughes will complete a two-day outdoor challenge program and participate in a community service project.

Hughes will also develop an action plan which he will implement as part of a school or community service project once he returns home.

Hughes is the son of Debbie and Harlan Hughes of Merry Hill, NC.

Barber is named National Honor Roll Award winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Krissi June Barber of Camden, NC, has been recognized for academic achievement as a United States National Honor Roll Award winner.

Barber is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harrell of Camden, NC. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bivens of Edenton, and the late Edgar and Ester Barber of Pea Ridge (Roper), NC.

Barber, who attends Camden Middle School, will be featured in the U.S. Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook, which is published annually. "Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, executive director of the Academy.

"The USAA National Honor Roll Awards provide honor roll students with many benefits and services and is a great tribute to a student's dedication, talent, and ability," he added.

Festival Day was huge success

MERRY HILL, NC - Lawrence Academy's annual Spring Festival was held on Saturday, April 24. The children and parents gathered at 10 a.m. for the musical program directed by Mrs. Beverly Young.

Narrator, Rev. Bob Young, along with cruise director, Raggs Rascoe, led the students through many adventures on the infamous USS Lawrence.

"The many weeks of preparation by the students and the decorating committee were evident. It was an outstanding performance," said Denise Nobles, spokeswoman.

Fun and games followed the program. There were numerous activities to choose from as parents assisted the children in making flowers, jewelry, pencil holders and other items. The Optimist train made many circles around the field as children of all ages boarded.

Several months before Spring Festival, the Lawrence Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) started selling raffle tickets. Mrs. Dora Saunders' first grade class sold the most tickets. The class spent the month of April involved in daily drawings for "lucky" raffle winners. The proceeds from the raffle and festival day will be spent on upgrading computer technology throughout the school.

Jamestown

the house though the roof. Soon we went to the Indian village. At the Indian village, my class learned how the Indians cooked, cleaned, and washed clothes. We also learned that in a way the Indians were smarter than the colonists, and in a way the colonists were smarter than the Indians. What I mean is the Indians knew how to preserve food by hanging it in baskets and drying it out. The colonists had metal armor and muskets.

Then, we ate lunch and went to the gift shop. We also went to a gallery. In the gallery the class saw a film about Jamestown and saw things that the English and the Indians used when they lived in Jamestown. We saw muskets, cups, bowls, food displays, and a canoe.

Finally, the three classes were ready to load the buses and go home. On the way home we rode the ferry again. We had a good trip and learned a lot that we didn't know about Jamestown.

Student thinks trip was neat experience

BY KATHERINE JORDAN

On Wednesday, April 14, 1999, we headed down to Jamestown, Virginia on two buses. We left at 7:20 am. Later at 10:05, we rode on a ferry called the "Pocahontas". On the ferry we fed the seagulls bread, went to the bathroom and looked around the upper deck.

When we reached Jamestown, we got off and started our tour with a nice tour guide, Ms. Harper. She took us to see the ships first. We went on the "Susan Constant". We went down in the bottom of the ship, and saw where the passengers stayed during the entire voyage. They slept in very small beds. They weren't allowed up on deck except on rare occasions because they could get in the way of the sailors.

Then we went to the fort where the colonists lived. I liked the house we went in. It was a small house with a fireplace, windows, and a place to sleep. The floor was very hard, packed dirt. Also in the fort, we saw a musket being fired, got to go inside the church, and got to waddle. We didn't waddle like a duck. Waddling is weaving wood, which is how they made their homes.

They wove the narrow strips of wood and covered the weavings and packed clay with straw which became hard. These were the walls of the homes. Three people in our class were allowed to try to waddle and did a great job.

Next we went to the Indian village. Sixty-five percent of the Indian things were made of deer. They even used the deer brain to soak hides in to soften them. Some of us were allowed to scrape the fur of a deer hide with oyster shells. We found out that the Indians had four methods of cooking: They boiled, baked, fried and something called rotisserie, which we use today.

After the Indian village, we went to the gift shop and ate lunch. Then we went inside the Gallery and saw a film about the Indians and colonists. We saw other things about Jamestown in the Gallery. They had Spanish helmets and pictures of the English and Spanish rulers at the time the colonists came to Jamestown. There were exhibits of clothes for the colonists also.

Soon it was time to load the buses and go home. On the way home, we rode another ferry called "Surry". About 3:20, we stopped and got a snack at McDonald's. Eventually, we reached good old White Oak School. I think the trip to Jamestown was a neat learning experience.
