"Before I entered medical school, I was trying to make it in the music business," said Dr. Wink, who also during this time, taught music at public and private schools, gave music lessons and was a choir director.

"I got nine rejections for every acceptance from music publishing companies, but I had a few published," she said.

The music bug didn't exactly leave Dr. Wink in medical school. During her third year, she released a solo album entitled "From Texas with Love."

Local Realtors join effort to help library

A group of Edenton real estate companies — Anne Burroughs Real Estate, Real Estate of Edenton Bay, Top Sale Realty, and Hayes Real Estate — have joined an effort by the Albemarle Area Association of Realtors to solicit donations of cash or children's books to help restore the Bertie County Library, which was heavily damaged during Hurricane Floyd. All are members of the organization.

Edenton Realtor April Lane said that the mission is in keeping with the philosophy of the association, which follows a specific code of ethics and "one of our goals is to serve our respective communities," she said. "We are happy to have this opportunity to help."

Association President George Bright said, "Our 150 members are real estate professionals who are out in their communities every day. Following Floyd, we realized how lucky we were here in northeastern North Carolina and feel a need to offer assistance tion of Realtors, one of the state's oldest and currently the largest professional trade association. Locally, AAAR provides education, information services and political action on behalf of Realtor members as well as the general public involved in the purchase or sale of property anywhere in Camden, Chowan, mainland Currituck, Pasquotank and Perquimans counties.

Through the deadline date of Nov. 15, everyone is encouraged to make donations of new or "gently used" children's books or cash donations to help the Bertie Library buy new books at one of the agencies. The Shepard-Pruden Library will also accept donations for the project. Checks should be made payable to the Bertie County Library. Donated books will be stored at Real Estate of Edenton Bay until the Bertie Library is ready to receive them.

"Our friends in Bertie need our help. We hope local residents will respond generously," said Lane.
