St. Paul's plans mission trip to help Hondurans

Members of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Edenton are planning a mission trip to Honduras to help build houses for families who lost everything to the raging flood waters caused by Hurricane Mitch in 1998.
High winds and torrential rains lashed Central America, leaving about 9,000 dead and thousands of others missing in Honduras alone. Crops were destroyed, bridges and roads washed away and thousands of people were left homeless.
The trip, which is scheduled for Oct. 12-22, will cost about $1,000 per person, with $551 designated for a round-trip ticket on Continental Airlines, and the balance for food, lodging, medical insurance and miscellaneous expenses.

Thus far about 10 members of St. Paul's have agreed to make the trip and there is still room for others to take part in it. Slots for 20 volunteers have been reserved in Honduras and members of other churches are invited to participate.
"It has been almost two years since the flooding devastated much of Honduras and there are still thousands of families living in tents or in makeshift hovels made of tin and cardboard," said the Rev. Alfonso A. Narvaez, trip coordinator. "We hope to make a difference in their lives."
He added that the Episcopal Church in Honduras, with the financial support of the Episcopal Church's Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, has purchased land and has developed plans for a 200-house community in San Pedro Sula, just north of the capital. Since the project was started in June 1999, 60 dwellings have been built and are being occupied by former flood victims.
Father Narvaez noted that the
